Illinois Victim Is Now Suspect

A Granite City, Ill., man who told police Thursday night that he had been robbed by a hitchhiker was in city jail this morning facing charges of possession of dangerous drugs and carrying a concealed weapon.

Michael Gerhardt, 22, arrived at the police station at about 11 p.m. Thursday, and told police that a hitchhiker he had picked up in St. Genevieve had robbed him in Sikeston.

Detective Lt. Leonard Campbell was called to the station to hear Gerhardt's story. He had Gerhardt drive him to the place where the robbery occurred.

Campbell began searching the car to see if the robber had left anything behind when he found marijuana on the front floorboard. A further search of the car turned up amphetamines and other controlled drugs.

Gerhardt was searched and found to be carrying a switchblade knife. He told police the drugs and knife belonged to his attacker, but Campbell says he can prove the items belong to Gerhardt.

Campbell says he doubts the robbery story, but did not say why Gerhardt came to the police station.

Police also arrested Sam Clayborn Jr., 1920 Ford St., for trespassing and carrying a concealed weapon.

Bloomfield Bars Carnivals

BLOOMFIELD —City council members passed an ordinance Thursday night at the City Council meeting prohibiting carnival or shows on the streets of Bloomfield.

Elder Manufacturing Co. requested the use of a well adjacent to its property. The council agreed to give full cooperation.

The council also discussed building a new water plant and buying property for the plant from Raymond Duffey.

School Funds Disbursed

NEW MADRID —State school funds of $728,126 representing the September apportionment to the three districts in New Madrid County have been disbursed by County Treasurer W.R. Phillips, Jr.

Districts and amounts received are: New Madrid County R —1 Enlarged, $589,245; Gideon 37, $85,485 and Risco R —2, $53,396.

Remaining apportionments are scheduled for December, March and May.

NEW MADRID COUNTY COURT received petitions Thursday, signed by 2,102 county voters, requesting the court to order balloting on proposed voter registration in the Nov. 7 general election. From left are Raymond Ashley, presiding judge; John H. Clavin, associate judge, first district; James H. Workman, Jr., associate judge, second district; and attorney Charles C. Spitler who presented the petitions.

New Madrid Court Gets Petitions

NEW MADRID — Petitions endorsed by 2,102 New Madrid County voters seeking a referendum on voter registration in the county were presented Thursday to the County Court.

If the petitions and signatures are found to be valid and in compliance with state law, an order will be made by the court placing the proposal before the voters in the Nov. 7 general election.

The court is expected to rule on the petition within a week after checking petition signatures and other legal requirements.

Initiated as a non-partisan effort, the number of signatures obtained exceeds by more than 700 the required 15 per cent of total votes cast in the county for governor in the last general election.

Voter registration was rejected in the 1962 general election in New Madrid County, now one of 60 counties in the state which has not adopted the requirements.

Adjoining Bootheel counties where voter registration is required are Pemiscot, Dunklin, Mississippi, Scott and Stoddard.

Issue Warrant For Sisk Arrest

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of J.W. Sisk, 813 Pine St., for failing to appear in City Court Thursday night on charges of careless and imprudent driving, and destroying city and private property.

Judge Jim Sickal set Sisk's bond at $25 on each of the three charges and reset the hearing date for Oct. 5.

Sisk was charged after his car struck two other automobiles on Illinois Avenue and two mailboxes, a pickup truck, a bridge railing, a ditch and a fence on Ables Road.

Fred Wayne Barnett of Marshall, Tex. was fined $110 and placed on one-year suspended sentence for displaying a dangerous and deadly weapon. He was also fined $110 for discharging a firearm in the city and $20 for public intoxication.

Other cases and fines levied:

Luther Lee Green Jr., Route Four, careless and imprudent driving, $20; Larry Gene Parker, 1515 E. Gladys, careless and imprudent driving, dismissed on payment of $10 court costs; Art Garner, 1701 East Malone, speeding, $15.

Max A. Dodd, Jr., 423 William, assault and battery, $15; Charles M. Kaiser, 203 Selma, peace disturbance, $15; David C. Jones, Route Four, driving while intoxicated, $110.

Dennis Joe Odell of East Prairie, peace disturbance, $50; James W. Smith, 232 Smith St., driving while intoxicated, $110.

George W. Orr of Morehouse, careless and imprudent driving, forfeited bond of $29.

Lonnie Edward Cooks of Oran, peace disturbance, forfeited bond of $35, destroying private property, forfeited bond of $29; and William Faire of East Prairie, public intoxication, $19.

On Anti-Busing

McGovern Says Nixon Stand Is Cover Up For Failure

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. George McGovern today accused President Nixon of using the school busing issue in a "cynical and demagogic" attempt to cover failures in his education record.

His remarks came only hours after McGovern had told of plans to talk to American voters by television in a series of quiet "fireside chats."

His mood today was anything but quiet. At one point, his voice cracking, he paused to sip a glass of water and said smilingly, "I guess I'm yelling too loud." His audience of 700 or so members of the proMcGovern Retail Clerks union applauded even that remark.

The Democratic presidential nominee received his loudest and longest applause not on the remarks on education and busing, but in an unrehearsed counterattack on Vice President Spiro Agnew, who Thursday accused McGovern of following the line of North Vietnamese propaganda by attacking the administration's policy of bombing that country.

"I saw Agnew on television crying about my statements about the war this morning," McGovern said. "I want to say to Mr. Agnew,—don't you dare challenge my patriotism or my loyalty."

After the whooping and applause died down, McGovern, who was decorated for bravery as a World War II bomber pilot, continued: "I'm in this race for the presidency of the United States because I love this country enough to call it to a higher standard.

"I want us to be the great and good and decent and peaceful and just country that we ought to be and that we can be when we practice the great ideals that gave us birth two centuries ago," he said.

But rather than express strong support for busing school children for integration purposes, McGovern said he endorses whatever the courts rule on the matter and he attacked the President's record on federal aid to education.

"He has stood back and watched classrooms become so overcrowded that children have to share desks and teachers have no time to teach. And he has done nothing about it," McGovern said. "He has stood back and watched school systems go virtually bankrupt and homeowners go into debt to pay the taxes on their property, and he has done nothing about that."

Backtrack On Crossing Rule

City officials have backtracked from Thursday's statement that automobiles must come to a complete stop at school crossings, even if no stop sign is present.

They say they were in error; and that motorists must stop only if there is a stop sign or if pedestrians are in the crosswalk. The erroneous statement was made Thursday after complaints had been received from the schools that drivers were not stopping at the crosswalks.

John M. Moore of Dexter, charged with non support, had his case continued to Sept. 28.

Carlyn Dwain Morgan of Fisk pleaded guilty to a charge of driving with out-of-state operator's license and was fined $10, and court costs.

Harry Don Foster of Dudley Route One pleaded guilty to going 95 miles per hour in a 60 m.p.h. zone and was fined $35 and court costs.

Thomas Odell Miller of Lilbourn Route One, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and was fined $10 and court costs.

Ronald Dale England, 201 N. Nelson in Dexter, pleaded guilty to going 80 miles per hour in a 60 m.p.h. zone and was fined $20 and court costs.

Troy Eugene Sowell of Friedheim Route one, charged with having no trailer license, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and court costs.

Rickey Lynn Warren of Dexter Route Two, pleaded guilty to charges of possession of an intoxicating liquor and careless and imprudent driving while drinking. He was fined $65 and court costs.

Gary Michael Bollinger, James Elmer Gross and William Jack Thompson, charged with burglary and stealing, had preliminary hearing set for Oct. 12.

Heckemeyer Chairman Of Committee

JEFFERSON CITY —Tony Heckemeyer of Sikeston 157th District state representative, was chosen Thursday as chairman of the special legislative interim study group.

The committee will meet throughout the state to investigate the present status of ecology in Missouri, to determine what problems exist in our environment, how serious they are and what possible alternatives are available for their correction. They will meet with federal authorites in preparing for their report and recommendations.

In the previous Missouri General Assembly, Rep. Heckemeyer was selected as outstanding conservation legislator, by the Missouri Wild Life Federation and the Sears Foundation.

Open House Tour Saturday At Mingo

PUXICO — Mingo National Wildlife Refuge will open its gates Saturday for a pre-season tour of the refuge and its facilities. The refuge, three miles north of Puxico on Highway 51, is having the day-long tour as a part of National hunting and Fishing Day.

As explained by refuge manager Jerry Clawson of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the day is planned to emphasize the service hunters and fishermen have done toward preservation of the nation's wildlife and wilderness areas.

Clawson, an employe of the U.S. Department of the Interior, said that areas like Duck Creek, a favorite state-managed duck hunting and fishing refuge at the north boundary of Mingo, paid for the federal and state management programs through sales of licenses and hunting stamps.

The open house Saturday will be in the form of a self-guided tour through areas of the reguge normally closed to traffic except on Sundays during October and November.

One of the main areas of interst along this route is the archaeological site currently under study by Professors Scott Grantham and Gerold Thompson of Southeast Missouri State University. Within the past two weeks, the university team has uncovered skeletal remains that date from the time of Christ, some pieces of pottery and one projectile point of arrowhead that is of a type dating from 8,500 to 9,500 years ago.

Grantham has been able to confirm this date. The finding of this point, in connection with the much younger material, seems to indicate that one of the later Indians might have found the old point and was something of a primitive archaeologist himself.

Construction has begun at Mingo on a visitors center to house some of the artifacts from the site as well as telling the rest of Mingo's history. The center will be under the direction of refuge naturalist Ed McCrea.

Other interests along the tour route are the many wilderness settings and the possibility of viewing some of the many types of wildlife to be found within the Mingo borders. Manager Clawson listed deer, turkey, teal and pintail ducks as some of the animals that might be seen.

THE PEOPLE THE U.N. FORGOT

Surely no institution has loftier principles than the United Nations. Settling world disputes and facilitating international discourse are worthwhile endeavors.

Doing good worldwide is to the U.N.'s credit. Lately, however, the organization has demonstrated questionable selectivity in where it chooses to do this good.

Ignoring Communist atrocities, U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim criticized the U.S. for bombing North Vietnamese dikes. Mr. Waldheim later admitted that he based his allegations on information provided by the North Vietamese, who have yet to admit that they have even one soldier in the South.

Manifestations of U.N. prejudice mount. American businessmen were fined for violating a U.N. ban on trading with Rhodesia. Other U.S. merchants sell computers, trucks and grain to the U.S.S.R., but this group was penalized for building a Rhodesian fertilizer plant.

Recently the Baltic nations, illegally absorbed by the Soviets in 1940, petitioned Mr. Waldheim about Communist abuses of their religion, schools and culture. When no reply came, many Balts reacted so violently that increased Soviet oppression was required.

Lithuanians, Latvians and Estonians do not see any logical reason for a world peace organization to ignore them. Busy lamenting North Vietnamese losses, Mr. Waldheim seems oblivious to the plight of those suffering under Communism.

Challenges to the U.N. are shunted away as being opposed to world peace. But the qeustion remains: Should the United States remain in it?

The Public Service Company of Colorado noted how Ohio Power Company planted more than two million seedling trees in its continuing program to make surface- mined land more attractive and valuable than it was originally. The company also sowed 700 acres with grass seed, pruned trees that had been planted 12 to 15 years ago and prepared other seedlings for storage and later planting. Since the program was started in 1944, Ohio Power has planted more than 32 million trees in four counties in southeastern Ohio. Much of the land has been turned into a recreational complex, visited last year by more than 61,000 persons.

GUN SAFETY COURSE

To be a safe hunter, you have to learn how to handle a gun from experts. With this thought in mind, the National Rifle Association established the first Hunter Safety training program in 1950. Today this program is followed in some form in over 41 states and six Canadian provinces. And it works! California statistics show the trained junior hunter is 19 times safer than the untrained; New York realized a 50% decrease in accidents. Remington Arms urges all new hunters to take courses similar to the NRA Hunter Safety course.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people in this world seem to have all the luck.

Nothing bad ever happens to them. They are immune to the ambushes of fate that make life's road perilous to the rest of us.

Their cars never run out of gas unexpectedly or refuse to start on cold days. They never lose money in the stock market, and they are able at will to make red-haired girls fall in love with them.

There is a name for these people. They are so lucky that they are called born winners, and everyone else envies them their luck.

It isn't too hard to tell whether you belong to this elite society or not. You are probably a born winner if —

The harelip you had at birth turns out to be just what you needed to become a teen-age rock music singing star.

When you were 10, you helped an old man across the street, and it turned out he was a horse dealer, and he was so pleased with you that he loaned you a shetland pony free.

As a Cub Scout at 11 you caught the scoutmaster playing hanky-panky with one of the den mothers. But you knew enough to keep your little trap shut and by the time you were 13 you were an Eagle Scout, and the scoutmaster had awarded you every Merit Badge in the manual.

You had a straight "A" record in college and won a Ph. D. by 23 because the first guy on the campus you shook hands with as a freshman became your buddy. As he worked in the print shop that printed all the college exam papers, you were able to get a copy of the questions two days before you had to take any quiz.

You became a dean by marrying the president of the university's beautiful daughter and naming your first son after him.

She inherited from both her grandfather and grandmother. And then your good-for-nothing uncle who had run away to Australia and made a fortune there pulling wool over people's eyes, died and left you enough sheep — and cash — to suit your every need.

Now you don't call on your banker. He calls on you.

When a sudden flood left your house surrounded by 10 feet of water, you sold it at a big profit as "lakefront property."

Each of the three beauteous private secretaries in the office of the huge educational foundation you now head — your big task is how to give away all the money — has presented you privately with a gold key to her apartment.

Yep, if these things are true of you, you're a born winner who can't lose from winning. The only thing in life that worries you is that you can't live forever or take it with you when you go.

'NEWSPAPERS CAUSE OUR PROBLEMS'

"Publicity is the cause of all the problems we have in the world today. If newspaper and TV and radio didn't print all the news about riots and wars and murders and hijackings then they wouldn't happen so frequently ..."

Sound familiar? We hear it every day. Newspapers are the cause of this, newspapers are the cause of that ... "If you didn't give quite so much of the story then the other guys wouldn't get the idea ..."

The fact is that people who look to blame the media for the world's ills are looking for a quick and easy answer to our problems. They are afraid to face the real questions of race, poverty, war, hunger, and pollution head on, they would rather stick their heads in the sand and place the fault on the press.

News is news no matter how you look at it. Weekly we get criticized for overreacting to one story, or bombarded from all sides for not spotlighting another. It seems to be a question not of which story is the more sensational, but rather a question of which article has the most interest to whom.

So it must boil down to the simple fact that the story getting the page one coverage is the story with the most impact on the greatest number of people, the story that happened the most recently or the story which historically has the great reader interest.

The editor must make these decisions on a daily basis taking into consideration the technical problems of his medium (there are only so many minutes in a newscast or so many inches alloted in a newspaper for news coverage.)

The editor must keep one thing in mind when deciding what the paper or newscast will look like each issue, that is the fact that if no one reads or watches then his work has gone for naught.

Public interest, reader surveys, telephone interviews, personal contact, and "gut reaction" all combine to give the media some idea of what the public wants to see and hear. As unfortunate as it may seem, we must yield at least in part to the average citizen as, in the last analysis, he foots the bill.

We do not by any stretch of the imagination advocate sensationalistic reporting, banner headlines on horrendous crimes, or pictorial essays on this or that atrocity. The media must strive to be objective while at the same time producing a product that the public will buy. This most certainly is not an easy task.

As to whether or not news stories have an impact on the population causing other incidents, there is little question that they may have some affect.

However, it is doubtful that riots in the major cities would have erupted after the Watts disturbances if the seeds of the problems in Watts did not exist in other cities. The fact that major disturbances in many cities (New York, Atlanta, Chicago and others) were avoided can be traced at least in part to the education these cities received through the reporting of the news media.

To be responsible, the media must report ALL the news fairly, objectively, and completely. We must assume that the population can handle the problems of the world we live in, and pray that all will work to eliminate them. Maybe the dream of every editor will come true, that is that he can truthfully say that all the stories he published fall under the heading "good news."

JUST THINKING

I have been mulling over the words of Francis Bacon, the English philosopher of the sixteenth century. He said: "It is not what men eat, but what they digest, that makes them strong; not what we gain, but what we save, that makes us rich; not what we read, but what we absorb, that makes us learned; not what we preach, but what we practice, that makes us lovable."

Suddenly he lowered his head, stretched out his arms, and barged through the crowd.

"Can't you ack like a gentleman?" inquired a cold feminine voice at his elbow.

"I've been acting like a gentleman for the past hour," replied the man, still charging forward. "From now on I'm going to act like a lady."

Why do so many foods contain additives today?

Food preparation is moving rapidly from the home kitchen to the food factory and storage time between preparation and eating is longer. Proper and safe additives are necessary to keep foods safe, pure and wholesome. Additives are quite safe in ordinary amounts for healty people. Sugar and slat, for instance, are common additives and will affect the taste of food when used in exces. Additives are listed by chemical names such as sodium chloride, calcium acid phosphate, acetic acid, sodium acid carbonate, amulum, potassium bitartrate and hydrogen oxide. Their familiar names are salt, baking powder, vinegar, soda, cornstarch, cream of tartar and water.

Are consumers ever asked to evaluate new packages and make suggestions to manufacturers?

After testing packages to determine what protects best, most manufacturers offer a choice of packages to hundreds of homemakers to determine what will appeal to them. The package they choose is an important consideration in the final choice.

Where can I find out about small heating appliances for an add-on room?

Gas and electric utilities, plumbing and heating firms and some appliances distributors and mail order catalogs will have pictures and specifications for these appliances. Before shopping you should know the size of the area you wish to heat, the approximate space available and the presence or absence of a chimney or flue. Many states now have laws specifying certain requirements for room heaters. Be sure the models you consider measure up to the law.

'I DO' REECHOES IN WHITE HOUSE

The Edward Cox-Tricia Nixon wedding is the 16th such happy event to take place in the White House.

The nuptail history of the presidential mansion goes back to March 20, 1812, when Dolley Madison's sister, Lucy Payne Washington, became the first White House bride in a ceremony uniting her with Thomas Dodd, an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The first daughter of a president to be married in the White House was Maria Hester Monroe, who married Samuel Gouverneur, her cousin and her father's secretary, on March 9, 1820.

President James Monroe spent $100 on candles, say the historical experts with the national Geographic Society, but little else in the way of show. Because of a clampdown on publicity, the only social notice was a 34-word newspaper account published two days later.

By contrast, President Andrew Jackson spent $10,000 to refurnish the White House— including 20 deluxe $12.50 spitoons—for the wedding of his niece, Mary Eastin, to Lucius J. Polk of Tennessee.

Nellie Grant, daughter of President Ulysses S. Grant, reportedly cost her father $10,000 for her wedding gown alone when she was married on May 21, 1874. But the bridegroom, an Englishman named Algernon Sartoris, made history of a sort by carrying his own bouquet.

Another virtually ignored ceremony was the marriage of President John Tyler's daughter, Elizabeth, to William N. Waller of Virginia on January 31, 1842. Newspapers reported the event in one sentence.

Not so when Lynda Bird Johnson married Capt. Charles S. Robb on December 9, 1967. At least 500 ladies and gentlemen of the press, radio and TV were on hand.

The only president to be married in the White House was, of course, Grover Cleveland, who married 22-year-old Frances Folsom on June 2, 1886. Anticipating the women's lib movement by some 85 years, Cleveland deleted the word "obey" from his bride's wedding vows.

And for the record, the only son of a president to be a White House bridegroom was John Adams, son of John Quincy Adams, who married his cousin, Mary Catherine Hellen, on February 25, 1828.

LET'S ATTACK CRIME

Crime continues to show an upsurge in the United States. HLH

The annual report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, recently released and reported in all the news media, showed that lawlessness in the nation has not been curtailed. Statistics, fed by local law enforcement agencies to the FBI computers, make it plain that not enough emphasis is being placed on the crime problem by any of us. The criminal remains the foremost internal enemy.

Many police officers we know say that too much emphasis is being placed on the social aspect of crime. Huge grants from federal and private sources emphasize the correction of background conditions that socialists say create criminal conditions. These officers believe that enforcement of the law should come first and that seems like a reasonable premise.

Adherence to the laws of the land should come first with the citizens. In days gone by, violations were strictly the work of the professional thief but that simply is not true any more. Many people who would never contemplate stealing now take to the streets to smoke marijuana openly and also to violate the rights of private property. They do it in the name of individual freedom, forgetting that they too have restraints imposed upon them by the law which is made to protect all of society. Without the law and adherence to it, we are in a primitive jungle.

We recommend support of the LAW —AID program. It embodies individual compliance with the law and support of those officers, prosecutors and courts who are sworn to uphold the laws of the land. Participation in the LAW —AID program is just as vital as combatting our enemies from without. Tranquility on the domestic front and strength on the foreign front are essential to our survival.

Inside Labor

Inside White House:
Nixon Watches As Agnew's New Image Gets First Test

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — Just about four years ago, a former labor lawyer I know, by name of Spiro "Ted" Agnew, was in a Boston hotel when I caught up with him. Hurriedly he was getting into a formal dinner jacket for a political banquet speech and we decided to talk later. But as he broke away he said ironically, "I guess I'd save time if I dressed in the image some of your colleagues have been painting me --in loin cloth and stone axe."

Four years and several score tough stances later Vice President Agnew virtually re-imaged. It began, in effect, over the July 7 weekend. A few days earlier, on June 30, President Nixon had telephoned Clark MacGregor and asked him to come to the Oval Room.

They talked. And almost immediately afterwards MacGregor, campaign manager, called Spiro Agnew. He didn't get him immediately. But the Vice President returned the call the afternoon of July 1 and they arranged to meet over the July 7 weekend right after MacGregor returned from San Clemente where he had discussed with Mr. Nixon the campaign pattern and strategy.

When Agnew and MacGregor met that weekend in the Vice President's Executive Office Building headquarters, Mr. Agnew said he wanted to campaign hard on the positive side, on the issues, on programs but not on personalities as he has. It was agreed.

Not too much later the President was invited by the Bricklayers president Tom Murphy to speak at their Las Vegas convention on Sept. 11 or any convenient date that week. Mr. Nixon considered flying out but then asked Murphy if he'd mind if Vice President Agnew were surrogated for him. The Bricklayers were "delighted," though Secretary of Labor Hodgson was scheduled to speak the next day.

And Ted Agnew, whilom Maryland lawyer for the Meatcutters, the Teamsters and the maritime unions, et al., was back in an old milieu --speaking of real weekly earnings, employment statistics, and the increase in jobs "despite the deliberate winding down of the war," and how the government wanted to get out of collective bargaining as swiftly as possible by ending controls.

President Nixon thereby had tested political waters and they were calm. Mr. Agnew was well received. He was on his way not only to "fund raisers" but to other unions, ethnic groups, a vast field of blue-collar workers.

The next day, Sept. 12, President Nixon told party leaders in the White House East Room that the Vice President could handle "both of those fellows" in the ring at the same time. The reference obviously was to the Democratic national candidates.

Agnew was taking the traditional role of Vice Presidents and Vice Presidential candidates of both parties. Sargent Shriver, too, had hit the labor trail, talking to local groups, whipping up conventions, and bouncing off with vital endorsements for his principal, George McGovern.

But for Shriver, this was doing what comes naturally in the Democratic party. Every place he stopped it was Kennedy Day.

But for Ted Agnew it isn't as simple. For four years now it has been President Nixon who has been the Administration's liaison with labor's top and second-echelon leaders. Mr. Nixon has done far more than drink beer with George Meany. The President has been on the phone with union chiefs --increasing his tempo these past weeks. And he has seen many more than has been reported and an array far distant from the Teamsters of Frank Fitzsimmons with whom Mr. Nixon conferred privately during the Republican national convention in Miami last August.

Into the Oval Room have come as diverse a group of labor men as the former president of the New York Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn., Ed Kiernan (now head of the International Conference of Police Associations), and a California Retail Clerks official. Just the other day Mr. Nixon telephoned the head of the Utility Workers, and old CIO union which endorsed him. Soon there will be a series of such outright endorsements to counter the swing to Sen. McGovern.

Ted Agnew has not wanted to crisscross this Presidential "jurisdiction." But now the President has given the signal --by passing on the Bricklayers' invitation. And, thus, the Vice President is moving into the field --old familiar places full of familiar faces. It's generally forgotten that Ted Agnew was Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's advance man in '67. And that Agnew had slipped quietly into the AFL —CIO Bal Harbour convention hotel to gear up labor support in December of that year --especially that of the influential Seafarers' chief Paul Hall --for the New York governor.

Of course there's more riding here than the 1972 election. Ted Agnew wants passionately to win --and then roll on to 1976. His staff people don't shy from discussing this with their intimates. They are putting together "the lists" which are the essential forerunners of primary campaigns and drives for funds.

They're ready for Nov. 8 --and what they believe is as certain as sunrise. Then they'll analyze the new image. Did it remake Agnew? Or did it lose him his constituency? Or can he keep the best of two political milieus?

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON —A mysterious electronic ray to knock out hijackers was developed by the Federal Aviation Administration but was put aside after a fierce internal debate.

The high-frequency ray system, labeled "Operation Zeke," was one of several classified schemes considered by Dr. H.L. Reighard, who headed a task force formed in 1969 to counter an epidemic of Cuban-bound hijackers.

As developed by FAA scientists, the pilot or a crewman could actuate a pulsing ray which coursed between two set points in the plane. Anyone passing through the ray would knocked unconscious.

The original plan was to put the two "ray boxes" near the door to the cockpit so the pilot could see the hijacker, perhaps lure him toward the cockpit and cut him down.

At first, there was enthusiasm over the system. It did not kill, but merely knocked out its victim. As one government aide put it, the hijacker "would wake up wondering what happened to him."

Crude prototypes were tested, but were never used on a hijacker. After the initial excitement over "Operation Zeke," however, doubts began to plague the FAA task force.

What would happen, scientists wondered, if the hijacker had an accomplice. The second man might panic and begin firing if he saw his companion unaccountably slump to the floor.

Or a malfunction might prevent the powerful ray from felling the hijacker immediately. In the second before he fainted, he could spray the passengers with bullets or explode the plane with a grenade.

After agonized discussions, the FAA finally decided the system had too many kinks for commercial airliners. The project was abandoned, although modest research on such immobilizing techniques has continued.

Now advocates are saying that the magic rays, if perfected, might have saved not only 11 murdered Israeli Olympic athletes but the Arab terrorists who died with them. They say portable ray boxes might have been available which would fell multiple hijackers in such special circumstances as Munich.

Footnote: Dr. Reighard would say only he was "distressed and disturbed" that we had learned of "Operation Zeke." He insisted his task force had considered every feasible hijack control before putting aside any of them as impractical.

—GUERRILLAS AND DOPE—

Intelligence reports charge that the Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon are hampering U.S. efforts to cut off the illegal flow of heroin and hashish from the Mideast to America.

"Turkish opium and morphine base is smuggled into Lebanon," says one report, "directly or through Syria." From Lebanon, some shipments are routed to South America, others to Rotterdam for transshipment to the U.S.

It's difficult to stop the dope smuggling out of Lebanon, suggests another classified document, because "internal security and the presence of about 30,000 armed guerillas in the country pose a major threat to the government.

"The police are restrained from proceeding against the hashish production and trafficking in the Baalbeck area as there is strong parliamentary involvement in the traffic," the report adds.

In all fairness, the harassed Lebanese government has tried to control the Palestinians. But William Buffum, the American ambassador, has pointed out that "the Lebanese authorities have not dared to set foot in any of the country's 15 refugee camps for the past two years."

As evidence of the trouble the guerrillas are causing in Lebanon, the Central Intelligence Agency has summarized the Palestinian offenses, notably:

"A. Customs evasion, nonpayment of postal and telephone dues, flouting of vehicles registration regulations.

"B. The presence in refugee camps of large colonies of alien squatters.

"C. Refusal by individuals to comply with court orders, pay fines or answer summonses, under the protection both of the camp police and of their fedayeen aliases.

"D. Seizure and occupation of land outside the defined camp boundaries.

"E. Specific incidents of ill-discipline."

Reports also persist that the Palestinian terrorists are actually raising their arms money by smuggling dope. The intelligence data in our hands, however, fails to pin down this charge.

The U.S., meanwhile, has brought quiet pressure upon the Lebanese authorities to crack down on the smuggling. Although they may be somewhat helpless to prevent it, the classified documents recommend as a last resort that the U.S. "expose Labanon" --one of our few friends in the Arab sphere -- "in the world press as source and transshipment country for hashish and opiates respectively."

Tires, Rims Stolen

Two tires were reported missing Thursday from Hudgins Truck Rental Company, 115 Robert St., according to police.

The tires were valued at $65 each. Also stolen were two rims, valued at $25 each, and two inner tubes, valued at $8 each.

Charges Expected Today

CHARLESTON —Willie George Robinson, 21, Clyde Cleve 17, and a juvenile, all of Charleston, are being held in Mississippi County jail and charges of stealing are expected to be filed today.

The three are accused of stealing five batteries from combines at the Simmons Equipment Co. on West Marshall Street the night of Sept. 20.

They were arrested Thursday by city police and reportedly took authorities to where they had hidden the batteries is a shed about three miles west of Charleston.

Recorder Ownerless

A Dejun Grundig tape recorder was found about noon Thursday lying in the grass on the east side of Crumpecker Implement Company, 2008 East Malone, by an employe of the firm.

Police believe it may be stolen and are trying to trace it.

Delta Child Hit

A child was slightly injured Thursday in Delta in one of two area accidents which resulted in two injuries on Southeast Missouri highways, the highway patrol reported today.

Injured was Tonia Renee Brown, 10, of Delta. She ran into the path of a car at the junction of Highway 25 and Route N in Delta. The child was taken to Chaffee General Hospital. Driver of the car was Vickie Sue McDaniel, 17, also of Delta.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday on Roxie Road one mile west of Poplar Bluff, a car driven by David Allen Burford, 28, of Poplar Bluff, ran off the road into a ditch and struck a dirt embankment. He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff for observation.

Present Check

The Sikeston Pilots Association will hand a $300 check to City Manager Jim Huff today. The money represents the proceeds from the association-sponsored air show, according to Bill Swann, president of the association.

He said the association would request that the money be used for mowing equipment at the airport.

ISRAELI STRIKES

TEL AVIV (AP) — Strikes in Israel cost the economy 20,658 workdays in the first three months of this year, 30 per cent more than in the same period last year, the Labor Ministry reported. There were 46 strikes involving 17,077 workers and another 21 partial work stoppages.

BLACK-FINANCED HOUSING

ST. CROIX, Virgin Islands (AP) — Singer-composer Isaac Hayes has announced that he and a group of black businessmen have undertaken the sponsorship of a $100 million housing project for low-income families in the United States.

It is considered the largest and most ambitious project of its kind to be initiated entirely by black financial interests. It will be garden apartments in various parts of the country, aimed at housing more than 20,000 persons within the next five years. Specific cities have not been announced but Hayes says he wants most of them to be in the South.

An $8 million, 20-acre, 250-unit development in St. Croix, financed solely by Hayes, is completed

Judge J.C. Lescher and Mr. and Mrs. Greene Lescher motored to Matthews Sunday.

Mrs. J.B. Campbell and daughter, Miss Effie, were visiting in Cairo Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dover were entertained Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Young with a radio concert. The radio set was turned into the St. Louis Post Dispatch broadcasting station KDS. The orchestra giving the concert was the Del Rhea Dance orchestra of which the saxophone player was John Williams, a brother of Mrs. Dover. The concert lasted from eight until 10:45 when KDS station signed off. The concert could not be heard distinctly until 9 o'clock because of static noises, but after that time it could be plainly heard until the close except for a few times when some local wireless telegraph operators were sending.

Phil Gervig has rented the McGee residence on North Ranney avenue and will move his family from Alton, Ill., at an early date. Their household good will be brought to Sikeston by truck.

JAZZ PROFITS DIVIDED

NEW YORK (AP) — The Newport Jazz Festival in New York presented a check for $5,924.28 to the New York and National Urban Leagues. This was half the profits of the festival, held July 1-9 this year.

George Wein, festival producer, said that more than 100,000 persons paid approximately $516,000 in ticket sales. He said about $100,000 came from sponsors, the biggest being Schlitz and American Airlines. He said costs were more than $600,000.

At one time a spokesman for the two Urban Leagues hoped to realize from $100,000 to $200,000 from the festival.

What's The Law

Made Marion Collapse

By Jack Strauss LL. B.

In true gangland style Bill sauntered into a bar and grill and, firing two shots into the ceiling, announced a holdup. The only one who was held up, however, was Marion. Upon hearing the shots and seeing gun-wielding Bill, she suffered a heart attack and collapsed into the arms of another customer in the gin mill.

And to compound Bill's confusion at the unexpected turn of events, when later captured, he was charged with murder as a consequence of Marion's subsequent death.

"Someone's off his rocker," protested Bill in court. "I'm no killer. The fact is, I wouldn't even sway a fly. As for Marion, I didn't even see her in the bar and grill. And obviously, if I didn't see her, I couldn't have murdered her. Besides," he added, "she died of a heart attack, not a gunshot would."

"Whether he saw her or not," responded the district attorney, "is of no consequence. She's dead and that's what's important. And since her demise was due to Bill's gunning little ways, he's responsible for her death. That makes him guilty of murder."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Bill of murdering the fainthearted Marion?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that when a person perpetrates a high crime, such as a holdup, he creates a great human risk which can result in the loss of life and for which he can be held accountable. In htis case, concluded the judge, while not physical force may have been used against Marion, there was mental force exerted against her when Bill blasted away at the ceiling.

Region Seven Of FHA Meets

HAYTI — Region seven of Future Homemakers of America held an officers' workshop here Tuesday.

The meeting was brought to order by regional president Debra Baxter.

Nearly 130 girls and advisors from nearby towns attended the mass meeting. Each brought a sack lunch and soft drinks were provided.

After assembling back into the gymnasium, the project for the year, "We're all for older Missourians", was discussed. Regional officers put on a skit pertaining to this.

Each chapter officer was assigned to meet in a specified location for the officers meeting. Conducting these meetings were Debra Baxter, Terry Hinchey, Diane Nance, Carla Woodard, Cindy Crabtree, Terry Barger, Deborah Hall and Dawne Denson.

After the summary and announcements of a regional meeting to be held in Kennett on Oct. 17, the meeting was adjourned.

Dover-MacBride

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Durward Dover

First Baptist Church was the scene of the Sept. 10. wedding of Miss Lynda Louise MacBride and Joseph Durward Dover.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. MacBride, 639 E. Gladys, and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Durward Dover of Oran Route One. The Rev. Clyde Riddle performed the double -ring ceremony at 3 p.m.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladiolus and apricot daisy pompoms. They flanked an arched candelabra, which was decorated with greenery and apricot bows.

Prenuptial music was provided by Joel Allen. As the bridesmaids entered, he played the traditional "Wedding March". As the bride entered with her father, the "Wedding March" was played on the chimes. During the ceremony, Joe Williams sang, "I'll Walk With God" and Audrey Beck sang, "One Hand One Heart".

The bride chose for her wedding a formal gown of white, sheer organza and re -embroidered Alencon lace. The high neckline and empire bodice was richly trimmed with re -embroidered Alencon lace extending over the shoulder line and onto the sheer Camelot sleeves and finished with cuffs trimmed with the same type of lace. The A —line silhouette skirt was of sheer organza, softly gathered at the back with a lace -trimmed flounce tracing the bottom of the skirt.

Her double, floor -length mantilla of bridal illusion was edged with matching lace and was held secure with a Queen Anne tiara completely overlaid with lace.

She carried white Cattleya orchids, white carnations,babies' breath and English Ivy in a cascade.

Miss Sheila Clinton was maid of honor. Matron of honor was Mrs. Carla Blankenbeker, and Miss Sharon Henley served as bridesmaid.

They wore identical gowns of apricot organza embossed with white flowers and underlined with polyester. They had high necklines with an empire bodice trimmed with a belt and bow. The full, organza sleeves were finished with ruffles at the wrist. The skirt was softly gathered and had a flounce at the bottom to match the brides' gown.

They wore white picture hats with apricot net on the band folding into a smooth knot with streamers down the back. Flocked flowers were attached to the hat and were designed by the brides' mother. They carried white, lace -trimmed baskets of gladiolus, talisman roses, white and yellow mums, carnations and babies' breath.

The groom chose his brother, Jim Dover, as his best man. Groomsmen were Bill Sparks and John Blankenbeker. Ushers were Derek Wheeler and Larry Whorton. They also served as candlelighters before the ceremony.

Mrs. MacBride chose for her daughter's wedding a light green, crepe dress with a roll collar trimmed with lace and long, full sleeves of matching organza, and a sleeveless organza coat with matching accessories. She wore a Cattleya orchid corsage.

Mrs. Dover wore a beige, double knit coat dress trimmed with gold braid and seed pearls with gold accessories. She also wore a Cattleya orchid corsage.

Honored guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brown of Sikeston, Mrs. Jeanie MacBride of St. Louis and the groom's grandfather, J.W. Dover of Sikeston. Each grandmother wore a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room of the church. A silver candelabra was on each side of the three -tier wedding cake, accompanied by a silver coffee set and punch bowl completing the refreshment table, which was covered with a white damask cloth. Serving were Misses Sheila Vanpool, Debbie Murphy and Carol Walden. Miss Donna West attended the guest book. Mrs. Margaret Lee of Sikeston was in charge of the reception.

Following a short honeymoon, the couple is at home at 625 Sikes St.

The new Mrs. Dover is employed at Wal -Mart Discount City in Sikeston. The groom is employed at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Edmondson, Al Whorton and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Thompson of Oran, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wheeler of Morley and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sallee and children of Oran.

A rehearsal dinner was given Sept. 9 at the Mid -Towner Restaurant by the groom's parents.

On Aug. 13 a surprise shower was given for the bride at First Baptist Church. Hostesses were Mrs. John Blankenbeker, Miss Sharon Henley and Mrs. Lynn Ingram.

On Sept. 9, a bridal luncheon was given by Mrs. Ray Clinton and Sheila at their home with the bridal party attending.

Ann Landers

House Guests Pleasure To Some And Pain To Others

Dear Ann Landers: My hat is off to that smart woman who has no guest room, no fold -up cots, and her sofas are too short too sleep on. Her home is her castle, as it should be --not a free motel for slap -happy gypsies. That other nut who expressed delight at bedding down and feeding eight unexpected relatives for five days must have rocks in her head. She also must have a private tunnel to the Chase Manhattan Bank. That's 80 extra meals, Lady, not counting breakfasts.

Several years ago, when I had an extra bedroom a group of invaders stormed my home. They brought huge appetites, six pieces of luggage, a Russian wolfhound and a box of dog biscuits. Three months later we moved to our present setup and we've never been happier.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world and if anyone wants to call me selfish, let them. Familiarity breeds contempt. If you don't believe me, just look around at the broken friendships between people who got too clubby. ---Too Thick Won't Stick

Dear Too Thick: Thank you for "the other side." The majority of letters on the subject were from people who just love unexpected company. It does, indeed, take all kinds. Speaking strictly for myself, I'm with you.

Dear Ann Landers: Our organization, Recovery, Inc., is more than 35 years old but until your column publicized it, we were relatively unknown. Thanks to you, Ann, our attendance has grown enormously, we have started several new chapters and are now reaching far greater numbers of people and helping them cope with problems of emotional illness.

One of your readers expressed gratitude to Recovery for helping her stay functional for fifteen years. She had tried psychiatry, yoga, religion and hypnosis, but nothing helped. Recovery, Inc., she said, was the best bargain in the world --it cost her only a quarter a week, the price of the coffee and cake.

May I point out, Ann, that while there is no charge to attend meetings we do take up a free -will offering. Any amount is accepted. If a person can't put anything in the plate, that's all right, too. We do have, however, a membership charge of $7.50 a year, which includes a subscription to our bi -monthly magazine. "The Recovery Reporter." Since we are a non -profit, self -supporting organization, we need paid memberships to continue our work.

So even at $7.50 a year, Recovery is still a bargain. Where else can a person find the strength and fellowship to help him stay in the real world? --- Grand Rapids Member

Dear Member: Thank you for setting the record straight. Thank you, too, for giving me another opportunity to tell my readers about this remarkable organization. Almost everyone who works in Recovery is an unpaid volunteer. These formerly emotionally -ill people consider it a privilege to help others because they themselves have been helped.

The address of the National Headquarters for those who want more information is: Recovery, Inc., 116 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60603. I urge nervous people who are fighting to stay balanced and functional to give Recovery Inc. a try.

Confidental to Funny Money: Of course "money talks" --and it seems to be saying "goodbye." What you are referring to is called "inflation" and smarter heads than mine have tried, without success, to find a solution.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 35c in coin along with a long, stamped, self -addressed envelope and your request to this newspaper.

MERL IS BACK

Merl Keefer

We are proud to welcome Merl back to our sales and management staff, after an absence of almost 4 years. He and his family recently returned from Portland, Oregon where he worked as a furniture Decorator-Salesman. He acquired some very valuable experience while working for some of the better furniture stores in the Portland area.

Merl spent 19 years with us, starting as a delivery man, and became a member of our sales staff, and then manager of our furniture department prior to his move to Portland, Oregon. He has had a broad base of experience in the retail furniture field. Merl has many friends and acquaintances in the Sikeston area. We want to take this opportunity to let you know he is back with us. We invite you to come in and let help you solve your home furnishings problems.

NEW STORE PLANNED

Merl will be the manager of the new furniture store we plan to build in the near future across from the Kingsway Plaza. This will be a larger modern store, incorporating some of the better brands of quality home furnishings and up to date display techniques. We believe Sikeston needs a store of this caliber. The increased selection of this new store, plus Lewis Furn. center on West Malone Ave. will offer one of the largest selections of Quality home furnishings to be found between St. Louis and Memphis.

We are constantly working to serve you better.

We are happy to have Merl back with us in time for our September Inventory Clearance Sale to help us pass these fantastic bargains on to you.

Come in and get acquainted or re-acquainted (which ever it may be) .
He'll be glad to see you!

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ray Jackson

Jackson - Winkle

CHARLESTON — Miss Connie Sue Winkle and Kenneth Ray Jackson were married Aug. 20 at 5 p.m., in First Christian Church. The Rev. Larry Long officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Winkle of Morehouse, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Jackson of Charleston.

Miss Jane Gray of Sikeston, pianist, played the "Wedding March" as the bride entered and theme from "Love Story" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Mrs. Carlene Anderson of Cape Girardeau, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Edward Kinder, wore a floor-length gown of sheer silk organza over taffeta. The dress featured an empire waistline with a slender bodice. The high neckline was trimmed with lace and the long, sheer bishop sleeves were also trimmed with four rows of the lace. The skirt was gently gathered in the back. A white velvet ribbon tied in a bow in front with long streamers accented the waistline. Her veil was of silk illusion attached to a Juliet cap accented by lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white daisies with long white streamers.

Albert Jackson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Howard Jackson, of Sikeston, brother of the groom, and Charles Miller of Houston, Tex., brother-in-law of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall at the church. Mrs. Howard Jackson, sister-in-law of the groom and Mrs. Charles Miller, sister of the groom, presided over the refreshment table.

After a short wedding trip to Memphis, the couple is now residing at 307 North Heggie St. in Charleston.

The bride attended Morehouse grade school and is a 1972 graduate of Sikeston High School.

The groom is a 1972 graduate of Charleston High School.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller of Houston, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Anderson of Cape Girardeau.

Teachers Attend Delta Gamma Meeting

HAYWARD —Mrs. Jewell Burgess was hostess to a luncheon for members of Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Saturday. Assisting with the buffet style luncheon were Miss Gray Brown, Mrs. Eula Kimes, Mrs. Georgia Ellington and Mrs. Katherine Bass, all of Portageville.

Mrs. Madge Utterback of New Madrid, chapter president, presided over the brief business meeting. Miss Gray Brown, chairman of the program committee shared with the group the plans her committe had made for the 1972 73 yearbook. She presented a list of prospective meeting places and hostesses for the group to approve. Program topics and program leaders were announced.

The continuing program theme for the year will be "Changing Times —Challenge or Dilemma". New chapter committes were announced.

Mrs. Utterback encouraged all new committee members and their chairman to attend the Southeast Missouri district workshop for Delta Kappa Gamma members in St. Louis on Oct. 7.

The ritual of initiation membership was given to Mrs. Brenda Curtis of Matthews.

Area teachers attending the meeting were: Mrs. Freida Park of Malden, Mrs. Margaret Evans of Sikeston, Miss Jeannette Haubold of Marston, Mrs. JoAnne Hardin of Kewanee and Mrs. Earlene Moore of Portageville.

Baylor Visits MU

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Tigers, with one victory tucked away and a week of rest, face Baylor Saturday in a football game which may feature heavy passing by both teams. The game begins at 2:30 p.m., EDT.

The Tigers opened their season with a 24-22 decision over Oregon. The visiting Bears were beaten 24-14 by Georgia last week in their only start.

John Cherry will be at quarterback for Missouri. A junior college transfer, Cherry operated the Tigers' new wishbone with success against Oreton. The running backs will be Bill Ziegler and a junior college transfer, Leroy Moss.

Ken Gregory, a defensive back for Missouri, has a knee injury and may not start.

Sophomore Neal Jeffrey, the Baylor quarterback, completed 18 of 30 passes for 183 yards against Georgia, and split end Charles Dancer caught eight passes for 80 yards. Tailback Gary Lacy leads the Bears in rushing with 64 yards on 16 carries.

"Baylor demonstrated in its game with Georgia they have an enthusiastic football team," says Missouri Coach Al Onofrio. "We expect a dogfight."

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff points to the mistakes his team made against Georgia and says if the Bears "are going to entertain any hopes of beating Missouri, we will have to eliminate every one of those mistakes. Our young men have felt the sting of defeat. They didn't like it, and they fully intend to do something about it."

The Bears had four lost fumbles, a costly penalty and poor kick coverage in the Georgia game.

Bengals Unanimous Selection

What a revolting development this project of prognostication has been so far this season ... especially after last week's flop. I ve been so disgusted in my guesses that I've even been afraid to figure out what percentage I'm hitting ...

While I'm scoring at a low level, some of my fellow guessers have been rolling along at an unbelievable pace ... It makes me wonder if I shouldn't dig up my crystal ball and see if its magic would help any ...

I'll try it without anyhelp for one more week ...

Joining us in this week's game are Rovina Ralph, Tony Ford, Ron Hornback, Danny Summerfield, Jerry Gentry, John Greer, Steve Myers, Eddie Smart and the mysterious Purple Smoot.

Cape Girardeau Central is again the only unanimous choice of the panel to retain its undefeated status ... The Bengals travel to Hazelwood Saturday ... It'll be a battle but the Tigers are a 14-6 favorite.

Sikeston is favored at home tonight against the Charleston Bluejays. This rivalry always presents some outstanding football and the scores are generally close ... The panel has the Bulldogs favored 9-1, and I agree, and predict that the Dogs will unveil a powerful offense against their rivals ... SHS 28-7.

Unbeaten Kennett visits undefeated Jackson in a big Northern Division battle that could possibly decide the North title ... Both teams are having exceptional campaigns ... but one will lose a little momentum after tonight's clash ... the home field advantage of the JHS Tribe should be the determining factor ... The panel favors JHS 8-2, and I agree. But it'll be a battle to the wire ... Jackson 21-20.

Poplar Bluff entertains Perryville in a Northern Division game that finds the Mules still searching for their first win of the season and the Pirates looking for a third straight victory ... The Pirates are 7-3 favorites of our panel and they seem to be on the right track ... but don't be surprised by a tie game ... The guesses figure out Perryvile 21-13.

Caruthersville hosts Dexter in a South battle that has always presented problems for the Bearcats at Tiger stadium ... Two seasons ago the Cats lost at this same stage and had to scramble for a share of the title with a final - game win over Malden ... They'll be prepared this time ... The panel has the Cats a 9-1 favorite, and they should be a unanimous pick against the rebuilding Tigers ... DHS 28-6.

The panel had split decisions on Chaffee at Portageville and Malden at Piggott, Ark., and left me tagging the home teams as victors ... The scores were close but I figure the Bulldogs by a TD over the Red Devils and Piggott by three over the Green Wave.

East Prairie travels to Hayti for a South clash that might be one of thy most interesting of the night. The season looks like a long one for the Eagles, but they could lift their spirits with a win ... The panel sees no waywith its 9-1 decision .. I'll have to agree, but I have an urge to go the other way ... HHS 27-6.

Doniphan and Illmo- Scott City are big favorites (9-1) to capture their Bootheel Division clashes. The Dons are a 21-0 favorite over Gideon, and I-SC is a 35-0 favorite over South Pemiscot.

That's all for tonight ... Call telenews (471-6666) for results of the games and join us next week when the fearless guessing game resumes.

Pirates Are East Champs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates played hard all season and now it was time to pop off. So they popped off the tops of champagne bottles, a few soft drinks and one bottle of dry red wine.

The Pirates held a celebration Thursday night after winning the National League East title for the third straight year. They beat the New York Mets 6-2 and the victory was welcome relief for a team that had lost four of its last five games.

More champagne went for showers than for thirst in the Pittsburgh dressing room. Winning pitcher Steve Blass had some poured down his pants; Manager Bill Virdon got a champagne shampoo; and ther est of the players joined in the pennant party with drinks, music and laughter.

Virdon slipped away to a quiet corner, sipped some red wine and said the season had been just beautiful.

"Winning a division title is the hardest thing to do because it takes so long to do it," the rookie manager said. "Of course, it's harder on the players than it is on me, but it's still a long season for everybody."

The Pirates scored five runs in the third inning after getting one run without a hit in the first. In the third, the big blow was a two-run single by Richie Hebner. Roberto Clemente, Milt May and Bob Robertson also drove in runs.

The clincher Thursday night was the earlierst of the three titles for the Pirates. In 1970, they won on Sept. 27 and in 1971, they won on Sept. 22.

In the only other NL game, Philadelphia beat St. Louis 3-1.

In the American League, Detroit thumped Boston 10-3, Milwaukee downed New York 6-4 and California topped Kansas City 4-2.

Detroit blasted Boston for four runs in the first and third innings, three runs coming on a single by winning pitcher Joe Coleman, 18-13. The Boston loss cuts its lead in the AL East to less than one percentage point over the Tigers. In percentages, it's Boston .5454 and Detroit .5448, and that's close.

Boston started rookie Mike Garman, who came up from Louisville in the International League on Sept. 1. Manager Eddie Kasko defended his position even though Garman lasted just one-third of an inning and was hit for three runs.

"I had to gamble," said Kasko. "I wanted to start a righthander and I had three left. Garman had looked good in relief."

Johnny Briggs hit a homer, double and single and drove in three runs for the Brewers. The loss was the fifth in six games for New York. Bernie Allen homered for the Yankees.

Bob Oliver hit a homer and triple to lead California over Kansas City. Nolan Ryan broke a three-game personal losing streak and recorded his 17th victory. His four strikeouts increased his major league-leading total to 290.

Philadelphia scored two runs in the eighth on a three-base error by St. Louis first baseman Ted Simmons. The runs broke a 1-1 tie. Bob Boone homered for Philadelphia.

Cards Lose

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three players headed for winter league baseball combined forces Thursday night as the Philadelphia Phillies salvaged a little glory from a lackluster season.

Right-hander Wayne Twitchell stopped the St. Louis Cardinals on four hits through seven innings and boosted his record as a rookie to 5-3 in a 31 Philadelphia victory.

When Twitchell faded in the eighth, fellow rookie Mac Scarce snuffed out a budding St. Louis rally and recorded his fourth save.

The third Phils rookie figuring prominently in the win was catcher Bob Boone, who slammed a home run over the left field fence off Jim Bibby, 11, in the seventh.

Philadelphia, winning the series 2-1, broke a scoreless tie via Boone's first major league homer with two out in the seventh.

St. Louis tied on Jose Cruz' double, a grounder and Twitchell's wild pitch in the bottom of the inning but just as quickly fell behind again on an error in the eighth.

Larry Bowa beat out a hopper toward second base with one out in the inning, Tommy Hutton walked and ex-Cardinal Willie Montanez drove a shot off Ted Simmons' glove at first base.

Simmons lunged to his left to keep the ball in play, but it rolled into the Cards' bullpen area for a three-base miscue scoring Bowa and Hutton.

Twitchell walked Mike Tyson and pinch-hitter Bill Voss leading off the Cards' eighth, but the 6-foot-3 Scarce, a left-hander, stymied the threat by retiring Lou Brock on a sacrifice, Ted Sizemore on an grounder and pinch-hitter Luis Melendez on a pop fly.

In the ninth, Scarce worked past pinch-hitter Bill Stein's two-out single to lock up the triumph for Twitchell.

Phils manager Paul Owens said Twitchell, Scarce and Boone would be among about seven Philadelphia players performing for a Puerto Rican team this winter under coach Billy DeMars.

"The big thing we're tickled about with Wayne is his control," Owens said. "He could be the type of pitcher next year we could get 30 or 40 starts out of."

ONE BASEBALL RACE

NEW YORK — When August began there seemed to be only one baseball race worth watching. That was in the American League East where the Detroit Tigers held a two-game edge over defending champion Baltimore. The Orioles have had hitting problems ever since they dealt Frank Robinson to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Oakland held a six-game bulge over Chicago in the AL West, while in the National League, August began with Pittsburgh showing a big lead over the Mets and Cincinnati with six-game margin over the Houston Astros. The winners of the two divisions will meet in the World Series in October.

'Must' Game For SHS

Tonight's Sikeston High School Bulldog clash with the Charleston Bluejays at Public School Stadium is a "MUST" game for Coach Pete Cirrintano's troops.

First of all, the Dogs must generate some offense to maintain mastery over their arch-rivals. Secondly, the SHS pack must win to stay in contention in the conference title race and, thirdly, the Bulldogs must make a good showing before the capacity crowd expected to welcome the Dogs for the first of six home games this season.

In a midweek conference with Coach Cirrintano, he noted that the Bluejays are in a rebuilding year, like SHS, and that CHS's program had shown notable improvement from its opening loss to Caruthersville to last week's narrow defeat at the hands of Perryville St. Vincent.

"They (Charleston) showed some real hard hitting and determination against St. Vincent," Coach Cirrinatno noted. "Had it not been for a couple of key mistakes, the Bluejays would come into Friday's game with an identical record to ours."

Cirrintano had nothing but high praise for Junior DeLay, the Bluejay quarterback. "He runs exceptionally well, has a good arm and is the key to the CHS offense .. If he has hot hand, we'll have trouble," the former Arkansas State University assistant coach noted. Along with DeLay, Coach Cirrintano pointed to Jim Jamison, David Ledbetter and Herbert Harrison as outstanding players in the Bluejay lineup.

"That No. 33 (Jamison) is the best fullback we've seen," Cirrintano explained, "He's quick and assured of at least five yards on every carry. We must key on him."

Charleston, although failing to score last week in its 3-0 loss to St. Vincent, has pushed across 21 points this season compared to the Bulldogs' 14.

"This will be a big test for our defense," Cirrintano emphasized. "They're tall and rangy, hit hard and will present an extra problem for our offense."

The Bulldogs will be at full strength for the home opener, returning Curtis Bean and Dennis Breedlove to the lineup after missing last week's 14-0 loss at Perryville.

Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. at Public School Stadium.

Jets, Skins, Chiefs Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — In Baltimore they still shake their heads sadly when Super Bowl III is mentioned.

That, in case you've forgotten, was the pro football championship game in which a brash, cocky Joe Namath led the underdog New York Jets of the old American Football League to the title, beating the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

In days since, the AFL has merged with the NFL and Baltimore was one of three former NFL teams to join the old AFL as the American Football Conference.

The Jets and the Colts were placed in the East Division in what was figured to be a natural rivalry. There was talk of the two teams dominating the division for years and years.

Neither team reckoned with the upstart Miami Dolphins, however.

The Dolpins, after first luring away Don Shula from the Colts as a coach, won the division and went on to represent the AFC in the Super Bowl.

Anyway, what all this boils down to is that Joe Namath is making his first regular season visit to Baltimore since beating the Colts in Super Bowl III. He wasn't healthy on other Jet trips to Baltimore.

It's one of the weekend's 13 NFL games.

The Fearless Football Forecaster had 10 correct picks out of 13 for the initial weekend. That's a .769 mark. Without further comment, here goes for this weekend:

New York Jets 33, Baltimore 20—The Colts have beaten the Jets in all four previous regular season encounters. They won't this time.

Atlanta 24, New England 14— The Falcons, behind Bob Berry, win two straight before the toughies come along.

Dallas 25, New York Giants 21—The Cowboys won't beat the spread, which is 9½, as the Giants play game No. 2 of a long, losing season.

San Francisco 35, Buffalo 21—With John Brodie at the controls for the 49ers, what can go wrong when a team plays the Bills?

Pittsburgh 27, Cincinnati 25— The oddsmakers don't agree, but it's the year of the Steelers in the AFC's Central Division. If Terry Bradshaw doesn't complete his passes for Pittsburgh, he can always run for the goal line again.

Cleveland 24, Philadelphia 14—Leroy Kelly could have another one of those 100-yard plus rushing days for the Browns. For the Eagles, it will be just another one of those days.

Miami 31, Houston 16—The Dolphins will get their Kiicks again. And Bob Griese will mix up the Oilers' secondary with his passing.

Washington 16, St. Louis 12— The Redskins add another scalp to their 1972 collection, but it won't be easy.

Los Angeles 31, Chicago 18— Los Angeles can't bear to lose in a game like this. Chicago can't bear to win.

Green Bay 27, Oakland 25— This week's upset special. The Pack will be up from last Sunday's victory. The Raiders will be down and demoralized after losing to the Steelers.

Illini Face No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, who annually recall the legends of Knute Rockne, make their delayed start in the 1972 college football campaign against Northwestern Saturday.

A Dyche Stadium crowd of 55,000 is expected at Evanston, Ill. to watch the Irish unveil a sophomore quarterback, Tom Clements, against a Northwestern team that held Michigan to 7-0 a week ago.

"We will have to put more points on the board this season while our defensive unit gets a chance to establish itself," said Ara Parseghian, the latest in succession to famed coach Rocke who first made the Irish a national power 50 in the 1920s.

Without playing a game the Irish were ranked 13th in this week's Associated Press poll to the top-ranked Southern California Trojans who have already whipped Arkansas and Oregon State.

The Trojans go after their third in a row against Illinois at Champaign, Ill. The powerful Trojans are heavily favored following their 51-6 rout of Oregon State last week.

Oklahoma's Sooners, ranked second, entertain Oregon while No. 3 Colorado plays at Minnesota. Fourth-ranked Ohio State is idle with fifth-ranked Tennessee playing host to Wake Forest.

Other games involving teams in the AP Top Ten find No. 12 Michigan at No. 6 UCLA, night; No. 7 Alabama vs. Kentucky at Birmingham, Ala., night; Texas A&M at No. 8 Louisiana State; No. 9 Nebraska at Army and Kansas State at No. 10 Arizona State, night.

Penn State, ranked 11th entertains Navy and the Nittany Lions will try to bounce back after their opening game setback by Tennessee.

In other games involving the AP Second Ten, Miami of Florida is at No. 14 Texas; No. 15 Washington is at Purdue; No. 16 Georgia is at Tulane; Virginia Tech is at No. 17 Florida State; Georgia Tech is at No. 18 Michigan State; No. 19 Stanford is at Duke and No. 20 Mississippi is at South Carolina in a night tussle.

There will be four regional televised games this week instead of one on a national hookup. The four regional televised games are Nebraska at Army, Georgia at Tulane, Stanford at Duke and Bowling Green at Miami, Ohio.

'Moderate' Group To Seek Preus Ouster

NEW YORK (AP) — Self-described group of "moderates" in The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod has begun a drive to unseat the denomination's avowedly conservative president and allay a doctrinal controversy.

The president, the Rev. Dr. J.A.O. Preus, has been embroiled in a clash with the denomination's main seminary, Concordia in St. Louis, over his charge that its faculty is teaching false doctrine.

In an effort to stem the controversy that has spread throughout the 2.8-million-member denomination, a group of about 50 "moderates" met late in August and decided to spearhead a drive to replace Dr. Preus.

Spokesmen for the group disclosed Wednesday that they will press for the election of the Rev. Dr. Oswald C.J. Hoffmann, speaker on the weekly worldwide radio program, The Lutheran Hour.

Dr. Hoffmann is "the one man who can bring us together and avert the tragedy of a schism" the group declares in the September issue of Forum Letter, a monthly publication regarded as the moderates' voice.

Dr. Preus, 52, won the presidency in 1969 on a campaign to purge the denomination of alleged doctrinal deviations. He is expected to seek a second four-year term at the Church's 1973 convention in New Orleans.

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

49. Plague of Lice and Flies

Since the plague of frogs had not been successful in releasing the children of Israel from their bondage, the Lord told Moses to have Aaron smite the dust of the land and it would become lice that would cover Egypt and all the animals and people. The magicians tried to bring forth lice and they couldn't. They told Pharaoh that this was the work of God. This infuriated the Pharaoh more and he stubbornly refused to release the Israelites. The Lord then told Moses to inform Pharaoh that if he would not release the children of Israel there would be a plague of flies and that they would cover Egypt, but not the land of Goshen where his people dwelt. And there came a tremendous swarm of flies that covered the whole land of Egypt.

Pharaoh called Moses and told Him if he would rid the land of the flies then they could go. Again Moses removed the plague from Egypt and again Pharaoh deceived him and would not let the Israelites go.

STICKS-TO-ITIVENESS

Another Kind Of Learning

By REV. DAVID POLING

We soon will be told by the people in charge the number of young people returning this fall to school. We have the statistics for Head Start, the enrollment for those in graduate school, as well as the tally for those studying overseas. It is an educational culture, a school system in which we live and it is a force that touches every citizen. Yet education does not guarantee intelligence and advanced learning will not necessarily provide improved morality. Bright students are not always better people or even nice to live with.

For the back-to-school crowd, the following thought of the late Dr. James A. Francis is worth clipping. It has been around, but age has not worn its wisdom:

One Solitary Life

Here is a man who was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another obscure village. He worked in a carpenter shop until He was 30, and then for three years He was an itinerant preacher. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never went to college. He never set His foot inside a big city. He never traveled 200 miles from the place where He was born.

He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but Himself. He had nothing to do with this world except the naked power of His divine manhood.

While still a young man, the tide of popular opinion turned against Him. His friends ran away. One of them denied Him. He was turned over to His enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. His executioners gambled for the only piece of property He had on earth while He was dying—and that was His coat.

When He was dead, He was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone and today He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the column of progress.

I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever were built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together have not affected the life of man upon this earth as powerfully as has that One Solitary Life.

Mental Health Study To Start

KENNETT — A mental health training program for ministers in the Bootheel counties of New Madrid, Pemiscot and Dunklin and the surrounding area of Arkansas will begin Tuesday under a $6,000 federal grant.

The grant is the result of coordinated efforts by a group of local ministers (Bootheel Ministers for Better Mental Health), the Missouri Delta Ecumenical Ministry (MDEM), and the chaplaincy at Farmington State Hospital.

The training program will consist of four 10- week sessions meeting weekly. The first session will be held Tuesday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church in Kennett.

There will be no cost to ministers participating in the program. Travel expenses for those living outside the Kennett area will be covered.

Primary goals of the training are:

— To increase knowledge of mental health in order to be a leavening force in the community for the fulfillment of God's eternal purpose.

— To improve individual pastoral ministry and encourage the development of a closer working relationship with other disciplines such as the medical and mental health professions.

— To develop lay persons to minister to the needs of special groups.

— To develop groups with a common need, such as ADC mothers, prisoners and persons who have been under psychiatric care.

Program content for the first 10 weeks will include a general introduction of psychiatry and psychology and types of illnesses; a study of what "good mental health" is; and ministry and mental health.

Lectures by specialized resource persons, small group sharing and community field work will be the approaches used in the training.

Ministers interested in the training should contact the Rev. John Sill, 103 Washington, Kennett, Mo. 63857, phone: 314 888-2703

Gospel Series Opens Monday

MORLEY -- A gospel meeting series will begin Monday at the Church of Christ and continue nightly through Sunday.

Leon Sanderson of International Bible College at Florence, Ala., will be the speaker at the 8 p.m. services.

Revival Set At Eastside

Special services Tuesday through Sunday of next week at Eastside Church of the Nazarene, Ralph Avenue and Betty Street, will feature the Rev. and Mrs. Asa Sparks of Nashville, Tenn., as evangelist and singers.

Services through Saturday will begin at 7:30 nightly and at 10:35 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday, the Rev. C. Conrad Carrigan, pastor, announced.

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
By Dr. William H. Taft

FOR SEPTEMBER 24, 1972

Scripture: Genesis 3:17-19; Exodus 20:8-11; Ecclesiastes 2:1-3; 9

(Based on outlines prepared by the Department of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.)

Social Change: Work and Leisure

Today's lesson certainly is one of concern to all Americans since it involves the changes in concepts of work and leisure as brought about by scientific technology.

There are other major concerns to study. For example, work and rest are in God's plan for man. Since there is a need to use leisure purposefully it must be pursued to the glory of God.

Why should man work? God works, Christ works, and so man works. God worked to create this world and He intended that all men work. He expected work to provide personal satisfaction and enjoyment. In fact, much work can be fun.

The Jews viewed work as honorable. All Jewish boys were taught a manual craft, even if they were studying to be a rabbi. Christ was a carpenter, Paul was a tentmaker.

Why do we need leisure? Such "free time" provides a chance for one to focus on God. God prefers that we use our leisure in His name. He took a day off to meditate about the work He had just finished.

Leisure provides a chance for one to restore his mind and his body. Leisure is part of the rhythm of life. Leisure offers a chance for one to recover from the hectic days of the week.

Frustration can result when one spends too much time on his work. Charles M. Laymon points out that "Life was not intended to be a grind. Men are supposed to live as well as to work. We are due a larger share in the profits that come from our work."

"There is no fun like work," Dr. Charles Mayo said. "To be without work is almost to be without life. For it is work which creates interest in life."

Many changes have taken place in our lives that make leisure more important. Our computerized society with all of its scientific know-how permits man to do his work in less time and so gain more time for leisure.

One of the major unions in America has a goal of a four-day week, with the work-day comprising seven hours. Thus the men will have nearly half of each week to devote to other activities, primarily leisure pursuits.

Life today is a combination of work and leisure. If one spends all of his time working he has no chance to reap the benefits. We know that man cannot take his wealth with him, and the Bible warns about the accumulation of wealth when it is misused.

Today young persons take jobs they enjoy, with less concern about the pay and security. More and more sons are deciding not to follow the professions of their fathers.

Leisure, however, is not a time to be idle or indolent. Leisure has its function. It must have meaning. It is a time for the family to be together, although unfortunately today's family will use leisure time to separate and go to their own areas of special interests.

The Sabbath now encounters more competition for the individual's attention than ever before. More stores are open, more sporting events held, more activities of a non-religion nature occur.

Labor and leisure are bound together. To some persons their labor is their leisure; to others, their leisure is their labor.

Methodist Museum Planned

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Memorabilia of Methodism in Southeast Missouri will be preserved in a museum to be constructed on the grounds of Old McKendree Chapel.

The board of trustees of the historic log church, located between Cape Girardeau and Jackson, made the announcement of plans to construct the museum at the annual Old McKendree service.

Arthur F. Deneke of Jackson, president of the board, said a compatible structure will be built near the chapel, and it is hoped to be completed by next September. "We have quite a few important historical materials that should be preserved," Deneke pointed out.

The board felt that a museum would be the best way of preserving historical data on Southeast Missouri Methodism and Old McKendree Chapel.

The chapel itself is believed to be the oldest Methodist church west of the Mississippi River, and has been designated a "major historic shrine" of the United Methodist Church. It was named for William McKendree, first American-born bishop of the denomination, who did extensive evangelistic work in the Midwest.

The Rev. Jeff R. Marsh, superintendent of the Cape Girardeau-Farmington District of the United Methodist Church, used "Let's Keep Moving" as his sermon topic at the service. The talk was based on the first seven verses of Joshua which depict the Israelites' plight after the death of Moses.

The Rev. Mr. Marsh said, "everyone faces a moment of crisis, but they must keep going." He said that as the Israelites had to continue on without Moses, people today must continue on after tragedy or defeat.

The Rev. Mr. Marsh said he was very anxious to start collecting materials for the museum, and felt that it will be a valuable asset to the area. He also said that he hopes people who have historical information pertaining to area Methodists will now feel they have a way of preserving these things.

The Rev. William L. Blackard, pastor of Taylor Avenue United Methodist Church at Flat River, delivered the invocation and benediction at the service. A choir from the Rev. Mr. Blackard's church provided special music.

The Rev. H. R. Tate, curator of the chapel, also reported on his work at Old McKendree in the past year.

Association To Meet

POPLAR BLUFF — Cane Creek- Stoddard Baptist Association will hold its annual meeting Oct. 3 at Second Baptist Church.

Sessions are scheduled from 2 to 6 in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evenings.

Youth Revival Set Oct. 1-6

RISCO — General Baptist Church will have a youth revival Sunday through Friday, Oct. 1-6, with the Rev. Bobby Joe Griggs as evangelist.

Services will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature special music nightly, according to the Rev. Vernon Self, pastor.

Revival To Open Sunday

DEXTER — Evangelist Jack Scott of Springfield will be at First Baptist Church to conduct revival services starting Sunday and continuing through Oct. 1.

Men's Club Barbecue Set

BELL CITY — The Men's Club of the United Methodist Church will hold its annual barbecue chicken supper in the church dining room Saturday. Serving will start at 5 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m.

The menu will be barbecued chicken, pork, baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, home made pie and cake and coffee and tea.

The pangolin or scaly anteater is a toothless mammal found in Asia and Africa. It feeds on ants and termites. As a protection against these insects it has no external ears, thick eyelids and can close its nostrils, The World Almanac says. When attacked, it rolls into a ball.

It just doesn't add up.

SLOW AND STEADY—S/Sgt. Richard Hodgeson carries his son Dean down the 40-foot face of the Jungle Operations Training Center's rappelling tower at Ft. Sherman, Canal Zone. The slow trip down the sheer drop was one of a variety of activities the fort arranged for family day festivities. (U.S. Army photo)

JUMPING FOR JOY—Two girls jump rope at the Sunny Day Camp at Ft. Dix, N.J. The camp, sponsored by the post's Army Community Services and Child Care Center Board, provided fun and recreation for 30 exceptional children from the Ft. Dix area. Teen-age volunteers supervised the programs, which included arts and crafts, nature study, boating and summer sports. (U.S. Army photo by Sp4 James McElrone)

BLACK HERO—This statue in Baltimore's Monument Square is the first in a major United States city dedicated to Negro war heroes. Sculpted by Professor James E. Lewis of Morgan State College, the statue was a gift to the Maryland city from an anonymous donor. (U.S. Army photo by Sfc Ken Cannady)

SOLID RED CASTLE—Sp4 Dale Bradley cleans up his nearly-completed brick castle. The Ft. Ord, Calif., soldier noticed that his engineer battalion did not have a corps symbol. 1. In Memoriam

In Memory of
DONALD R. HUSK
Sept. 18, 1969

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all

The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Missed by wife, Sue; and children Carrell, Vickie, Marla, Wendy

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Sept. 22, the 266th day of 1972. This is the first day of autumn. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, the Soviet Union exploded its first atomic bomb, four years after the first American nuclear detonation.

On this date:

In 1776, Nathan Hale was hanged by the British as a spy. As he was led to the gallows in New York, he said: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary Emancipation Proclamation.

You can win the starting game. If....

You care for your car. Proper car care maintenance now can defend your car against starting troubles—keep it running right—all through the cold, damp weather ahead. And reduce harmful auto emissions, too.

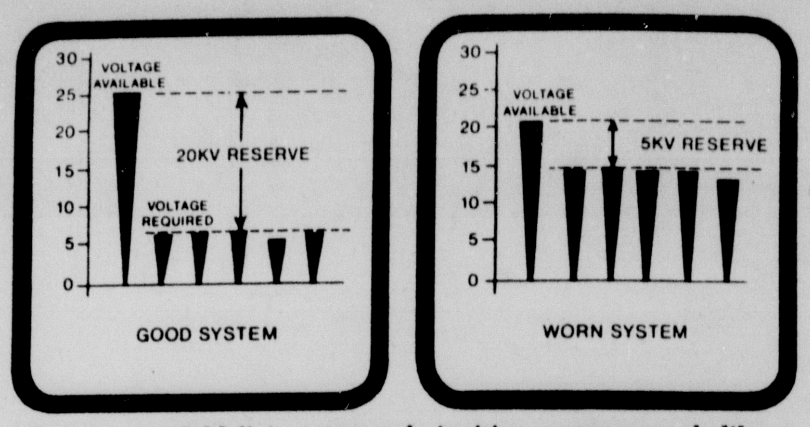
Healthy Voltage Reserve Like Having Extra Cash in the Bank



"Voltage Available" in your car's ignition system, much like a checking account, can sometimes become overdrawn. Chart (left) shows a healthy system with 25 kV available (5 kV required to start and 20 kV reserve), A worn system on a damp or cold day has less "VA," though with old spark plugs more is needed. Chart (right) shows such a system with 20 kV available (15 kV required to start and only 5 kV reserve). Avoid ignition bankruptcy . . . let your favorite service man check your "voltage account."

Wouldn't you know that day you couldn't get your car started you also got a letter from your bank saying your account was overdrawn?

Strange as it may appear, there is a parallel between these two unfortunately common misfortunes.

It's easy to see why you got that overdraft from the bank. Your income couldn't match your outgo. The same situation probably occurred inside the engine of your car and resulted in the starting trouble, says Champion Spark Plug Company.

System Explained

The ignition system income is called Voltage Available. In simple terms, that's the voltage that is provided by the electrical system and beefed up by the coil to fire the spark plugs. The "outgo" is called Voltage Required, or the juice needed to fire the spark plugs efficiently.

A healthy system would provide about 25,000 volts to the plugs. When the plugs are in good condition, they require about 7,000 volts to fire. All things being equal, there should be plenty of Voltage Reserve in the ignition bank.

Even with your engine in top condition, when winter comes there is an extra strain on your car's starting ability. Cold or damp weather takes its toll. For example, at freezing temperature, the battery is only working at 60 percent of its strength.

So there is less voltage available.

Deteriorated ignition system components also cut into the voltage available to the spark plugs. For example, spark plug wires that are worn or cracked leak away vital voltage. Distributor components like points, rotor and cap must be in top shape to help provide a healthy spark.

When Voltage Needed

Fresh spark plugs should be able to function well even with reduced voltage available. But when the plugs themselves are worn, the voltage requirement goes up. A set of plugs with 10,000 or more miles usage can require several thousands more volts to fire them. If they are badly fouled, they may not even fire at all.

No Go

The end result is ignition bankruptcy and a starting failure.

So to assure starting success this winter add to your ignition system bank account with a complete tune-up including new spark plugs. That's especially true if it's been more than a year or 10,000 miles since your last tune-up.

Inflation Can Be Helpful

Remember how Dad always used to let some air out of his tires when the snow got over two inches deep? Grandpa had told him this would increase his traction.

Now, a new generation has come along to tell it like it is. It's like this: Your tires actually lose some of their bite when you let air out of them.

If you want good winter traction, put on a set of snow tires—maybe studded (where legal) — or buy some chains. However you do it, do not experiment with your tire pressure. Besides the traction situation, underinflation can waste 20% or more of your gasoline.

Here is another interesting phenomenon about tire pressures. If you leave the cold north when the temperature is down around zero, driving into the tropical south where it is a lovely 80 degrees, your tires could become as much as eight pounds overinflated.

Conversely, your tire pressure will drop a like amount as you go from a warm temperature to cold. The drop is about a pound for each 10 degrees.

This is why you should not check tire pressures in a heated garage and why you should have the pressure checked about once a month — especially as seasons change.

The advantages of proper tire pressure checks are increased safety, better handling and longer, more even tread wear.

VENTILATION VITAL

Even on the coldest winter days, it's still a good idea to drive with a window slightly opened. This will prevent the possibility of carbon monoxide fumes amassing in the passenger compartment. Better yet, have your exhaust system checked thoroughly to guard against the deadly gas.

Study Shows That Maintenance Is Key to Control of Emissions

Checking emissions of thousands of cars to amass their data, technicians at Olson Laboratories discovered one common factor: No matter how effective anti-pollution devices are on cars, they still have to be maintained for lowest possible emissions.

So you bought a new car with all the emission controls on it. Now, your mind's at ease about excessive emissions. Well, it shouldn't be.

Studies conducted by Olson Laboratories show that acceptable emission performance for most cars can be achieved and sustained only by proper maintenance and repair. The study showed that only those tune-ups performed to reduce exhaust emissions are effective.

Olson reported that high emissions can be lowered, in most cases, with engine adjustments and tune-ups performed by a qualified service technician.

The results of the studies, summarized in the Olson report, suggested:

FIRST, that the incorporation of emission controls on cars does not assure continued low emissions because the control systems tend to deteriorate in their performance;

SECOND, with proper maintenance and adjustments, vehicles will continue to operate with lower emission levels.

Olson recommends the use of infra-red exhaust analyzer equipment by qualified service personnel in order that accurate inspection can be performed — and for determining corrective adjustments, service or replacement. This type of equipment measures the hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions produced by car engines and provides other information about their performance and economy.

Tune-Up Now, Avoid Winter Motoring Hassles

So Says AAA Director Who Offers Tips on Starting, Maintenance And Driving in Snow

By JOHN P. ECK
Director, National Emergency Road Service,
American Automobile Association

ONE OF 82 MILLION — Eighty-two million calls for help were answered by AAA road service trucks last year. And almost half of them were the result of starting failure. AAA recommends a pre-winter tune-up as one step in making sure your car starts on even the foulest winter days.

Does the thought of wrestling with a stalled engine this winter give you chills? The American Automobile Association says you can avoid this seasonal hassle by putting into practice a few basic guidelines for getting your car under way smoothly.

But well before winter arrives, AAA urges every car owner to take his car in for a complete tune-up and inspection. Especially important is a check of the car's electrical system. In 1971, AAA estimates show 49 per cent of the nation's 82.6 million motoring problems resulted from battery and electrical failures.

Battery Check

Batteries should be checked frequently. At 32 degrees, cranking power is about 40 per cent less than when the temperature is at 80 degrees; and at zero, about 60 per cent less.

During extended periods of cold weather, starting the car and running the engine at least every other day at sufficient RPM's to charge the battery is good insurance against battery failure. If this is done in a garage, be sure to open the garage doors wide enough to protect against the threat of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Do install snow tires well before the first snowfall, and have chains ready in case of a severe snowstorm.

Starting Tips

Once the inspection has been completed, and that first cold morning has arrived, here is AAA's advice on how to get your engine started with a minimum of trouble:

- Make sure the shift selector or gear shift is in neutral. If the car has a manual shift, depress the clutch while starting.
- Avoid a "battery strain" by making certain all electrical accessories (radio, lights, heater) are turned off before using the starter.
- Depress the gas pedal all the way down to the floor once, then hold it halfway down as the starter is engaged. Do not pump the gas pedal, because this can result in flooding.
- Turn the ignition key to "start," but don't hold the key in the start position for more than 10 seconds at a time. Continuous grinding of the starter can damage the battery, and even drain a fully charged one.
- Depress the gas pedal slightly to keep the engine running if the engine starts and then dies a number of times.
- If the engine becomes flooded, depress the gas pedal to the floor and hold it there while engaging the starter. Keep your foot on the pedal until the engine starts again. Then release it slowly. Remember, do not pump the pedal.

Properly Aligned Wheels Add Miles to Tire Life

By CHUCK STROBERG
Chassis Product Manager, TRW Replacement Division

Just as there are timing and ignition gap settings that combine to provide a well tuned, efficient engine, there are camber, caster, and "Toe" settings to maintain the operating quality of the chassis.

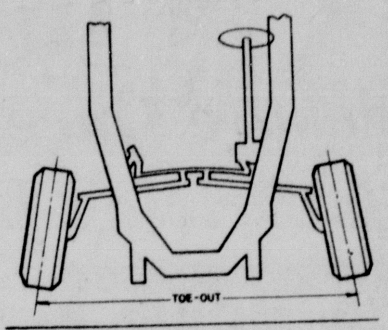
These are adjustable angles that must be maintained to provide a true running front end that will allow tires to give their maximum service life.

The camber angle is a measure of the tilt of the top of the front wheels to or away from the vehicle body. Ideally, for long tire life, the wheels should be close to a true vertical position when the car is in operation and at its stable riding height.

This prevents excessively high pressure on any portion of the tread where it meets the road that could cause unusual tire wear on one section of the tire surface.

Concerned with Steering

Caster is the alignment angle used to measure the forward or rearward tilt of the steering axis of the front wheels, when checking from the side view. Its effect on the vehicle is mainly concerned with steering and handling.



Only under very extreme condition can caster be a tire wear factor.

Other handling problems calling for front end service would occur before tire wear became a problem.

Of the three adjustable alignment angles "Toe" has the greatest effect on tire life. The "Toe" specification concerns the ability of the wheels to roll ahead freely without scuffing across the road surface.

The ability to hold the proper "Toe" setting is directly affected by the condition of the parts in the steering system. This chassis system which includes the idler and pitman arms, tie rod ends, and centerlinks, connects the two front wheels and has the job of transmitting the driver's directional desires to them.

Toe-settings

Although the parts in the steering system don't support a great deal of weight, they are subject to jarring, twisting, and turning forces that tend to wear them and create looseness. The change in the relationship of the parts to each other that is created by this wear can lead to variable or incorrect "Toe" settings that are a real hazard to tire life.

Maintaining the proper "Toe" and camber alignment in a vehicle is critical to obtaining the longest possible life from your tires, but alignment alone is not the whole story.

If you drive a car, you have more than the steering wheel in your hands.

As a motorist, your actions or lack of action can help determine the state of the motoring world in which you drive. And in doing so, you can make owning and operating a car a happier proposition.

In the simpler world a generation or so removed, car ownership was a relatively uncomplicated matter. Laws governing the automobile mainly dealt with its safe operation and licensing.

It is almost superfluous to note that things have certainly changed. Today, hardly a week passes that some legislative body is not weighing the passage of a new restriction on car ownership or car manufacturing. It's practically a full-time activity keeping up with new developments.

Reasons for this fixation on the car are not difficult to fathom. Traffic fatalities and injuries continue to remain at the same dismally high levels. Damage to the environment, resulting from vehicle emissions remains a serious problem.

While the auto makers have made and are continuing to make dramatic strides in solving these problems, the man and women behind the wheel have demonstrated little interest in carrying their share of the burden.

If this were not so, why do half of the cars undergoing simple vehicle safety checks fail in at least one critical component? If this were not so, why do three out of every five cars require simple engine maintenance that could reduce harmful emissions by a startlingly high percentage?

This lack of maintenance on the part of the car owner could almost be understood, if it were merely a matter of civic pride or good neighborliness.

It is obvious that self preservation ranks head and shoulders above concern for one's fellow man.

But caring for one's car pays handsome dividends in helping oneself. Perhaps the concern for one's family's safety is not that tangible an idea. It's comforting to believe "It can't happen to us." The non-use of seat belts is but one example of this apparent lack of concern.

On a dollar and cents basis, car care does pay tangible dividends. That low-emission tune-up will do more than help clean up the air. It will also save on gasoline consumption and on time and money expended when the car won't start.

Simple, low-cost procedures such as changing oil and filter and lubrication on a regular basis can forestall costly engine and drive train repairs. Cooling system attention can prevent mishaps that in some cases would ruin an engine completely.

Cooling System Check

A cooling system tune-up doesn't take long—only about an hour and a half. And the cost is small compared to that of emergency service or major repairs.

In case your service station attendant or garage mechanic doesn't know about Tune-Up No. 2, ask him to check his flat-rate manual, or write to The Gates Rubber Company, 999 So. Broadway, Denver, Colorado 80217. Or, hand him this list of service points:

1. A visual check of coolant level for indication of leaks or excessive oil content.
2. Check with pressure tester for internal and external leaks.
3. Visual check of oil for water content.
4. Test thermostat for proper opening and closing.
5. Check of heater valves.
6. Check heat gauge for accuracy.
7. Drain and back flush cooling system.
8. Clean radiator core of bugs and check for clogging.
9. Clean engine if heavily covered with grease and oil.
10. Test radiator pressure cap.
11. Check radiator neck cap seat for nicks or scratches that could release pressure.
12. Check water pump bearings.
13. Check fan blades and pulley for alignment and balance.
14. Inspect all hose and clamps for deterioration.
15. Check core plugs and drain cocks for leakage.
16. Refill system with coolant and check for air-locks.
17. Recheck entire system for leaks.
18. Check and adjust tension of V-belts.
19. Check and reset ignition timing to eliminate ping.
20. In cases where cooling system continues to overheat, check other possible causes.
21. Replace belts, hose, clamps, thermostat and cap as necessary.

Preserving that New Look Enhances Value of Car

A minor scratch can develop into a serious infection when left unattended. This applies to cars as well as human bodies.

Possibly you have experienced something like this with your car. The minor parking lot dent or split upholstery seam, which upset you considerably at first, gradually becomes part of the scene.

You get used to it after the initial jolt and tend not to worry about it after that. The same with subsequent dings and dents.

Unfortunately, the appraiser will not find these things particularly appealing when you start shopping for a new car. A well maintained automobile may bring several hundred dollars more at trade-in time than one that has been allowed to deteriorate.

Sometimes the neglect of a car's appearance is not deliberate. A few scratches you may not have noticed, covered with dirt and salt through the winter, suddenly appear as rusty gouges when you get around to giving your car its spring clean-up.

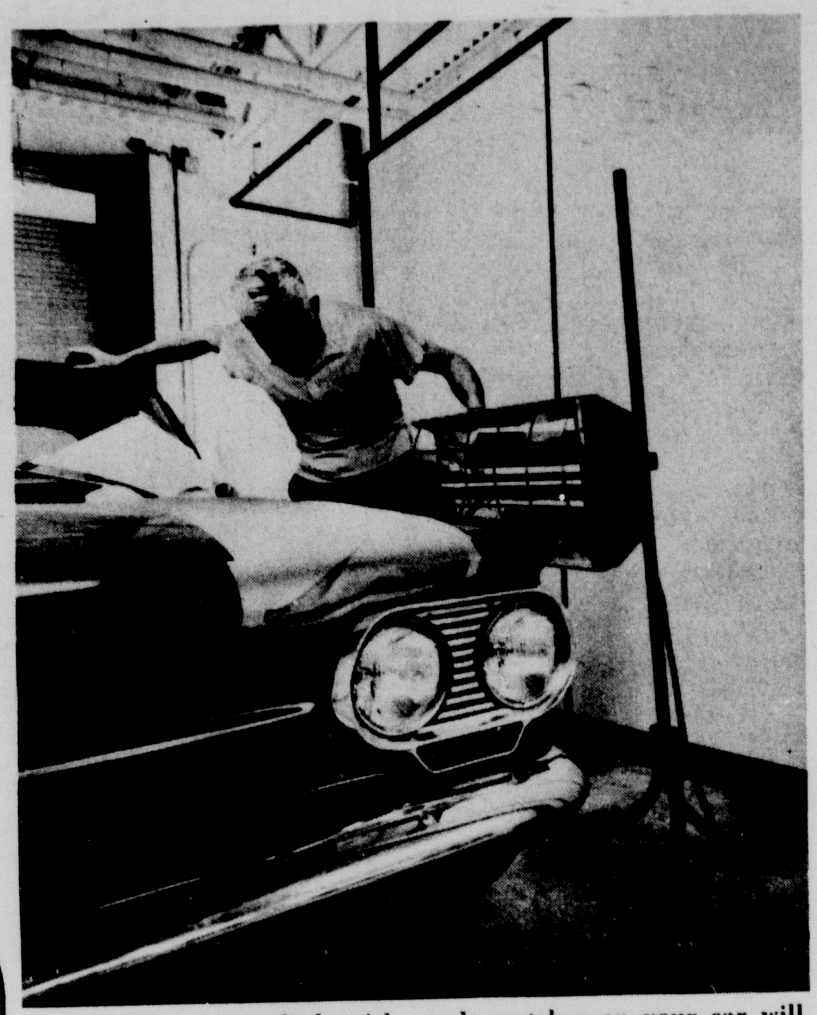
Rust, which usually does more to depreciate a car than any other single factor, is ravenous. It moves in fast, feeding on chips and scratches, until what started out as a minor scrape (possibly one that you might have been able to fix up yourself) now may require considerable grinding and refinishing to make the car presentable.

In terms of protecting the substantial investment you probably have in your car, quality body repairs can pay big dividends at resale time. Watch for minor scrapes and scratches and take care of them before rust does.

Touching-up Before Trading Should Increase Car Value

If you're thinking of trading in your car, a few dollars and a few ounces of elbow grease can increase its value considerably. Assuming your car is in good mechanical condition, the following cosmetic touches should help bring you top dollar on your trade-in.

1. Clean engine block of excess grime
2. Scrub out the trunk
3. Touch up nicks and wax the car
4. Clean floor mats and replace them if badly worn
5. Clean upholstery
6. Clean the headlining and dash board area
7. Clean scruff marks from the door siding
8. Make certain all lights and turn signals are working
9. Polish chrome trim and remove rust from pitted area



Careful attention to little nicks and scratches on your car will help them from becoming large rust holes. Having a professional do the needed repairs may save you hundreds of dollars in trade-in value for that's the difference between a car in top shape and one that shows body damage. Celebrities Demonstrate Car Care Needs

Under the hood to investigate a mechanical difficulty are from left: television personality Dave Garroway, comedienne Peggy Cass, race driver Peter Revson and comedian Louis Nye. In an hour-long National Automotive Trouble Quiz TV Special, this foursome dramatized what to do about car trouble situations that are not strangers to many of America's 110 million licensed drivers.

Do You Know Correct Answers? If Not You've Lots of Company

Do you know how often to have your engine tuned, how to start a flooded engine and what causes your engine to keep running after you've turned off the ignition? If you do, you're a pretty "with it" motorist. If you don't, you've got a lot of company.

Questions on tune-up, hard starting and after-run gave viewers the most difficulty in the recent National Automotive Trouble Quiz. The television quiz, produced by the Fram Corporation, was aired nationally and posed questions on car maintenance to the audience.

Three groups of drivers — driver ed students, their parents and members of the Sports Car Club of America — served as a cross-section of the motoring public in answering the quiz questions.

One question, "How often should you have your car tuned?" stumped more than half of the panelists. They failed to guess the correct answer which is, "Once a year for cars that travel an average of 12,000 miles."

On the question, "How do you start a flooded engine?" more than a quarter of the panelists failed to answer correctly. The right reply was, "Depress the accelerator all the way to the floor, hold it there and crank the engine until it clears itself and fires."

A third question, "What's wrong when the engine keeps running after it is shut off?" puzzled almost half of the panel members. They should have replied, "The trouble is dieseling, sometimes called engine run-on, and the services of a professional are needed to correct it."

Starring in the NATQ special were stage and TV comedienne Peggy Cass, comedian Louis Nye, race driver Peter Revson, and Dave Garroway who served as moderator.

The polecat is a mammal native to Europe and northern Asia. Polecats have scent glands which can emit an ill-smelling secretion like a skunk's. The World Almanac notes that because the skunk produces a foul smell it is often called "polecat." Polecats feed upon rodents, reptiles, poultry and small game. The ferret used in hunting is a domesticated variety.

In-Car Test for Drivers, Just One of Many

New Systems for Motoring Safety

The Automotive Information Council, supported by the major segments of the motor vehicle and motor vehicle service industries, for several months has been gathering data about current accomplishments and future technology and service refinements planned by the industry. A few innovations which one day may become an integral part of your vehicle include:

A braking system which permits a straight-ahead controlled stop without skidding or sliding even on wet pavement during a "panic" stop.

A device to aid in steering which automatically compensates for wind gusts and chuck holes, adapted from our space guidance systems.

A unit on the dashboard which monitors tire pressure while driving, activating a warning light or buzzer when the pressure on any tire falls below a prescribed level. One study shows that a tire under-inflated by nine pounds of pressure loses 52% of its life. In 1970, according to the same study, underinflation wasted an estimated 13 billion tire miles.

These are but a few of the more sophisticated innovations which may be available on the vehicle you buy in the near future.

A man who has stayed for "one too many" weaves through the bar door and lurches into his parked car. He's heading home, or so he thinks. But in order to start the car he must first correctly punch up his personal five-digit identification number on a small dashboard computer.

If successful, for a two-second interval another set of numbers totally foreign to him appears which he must memorize and duplicate on the computer. He has three chances at the second test. Correct answers will activate the ignition system.

He can then start the car by pushing another button which also activates the computer into a rapid series of pre-driving diagnostic tests of vital operating systems, reporting any signs of trouble. If unsuccessful with either test, no one can start the car for at least one hour.

Far fetched? Not at all. The technology is here. The "psychological tester" designed to prevent drunk drivers from starting their automobiles and to reduce the approximately one million vehicles stolen annually is one of many new systems in various development stages by motor vehicle and vehicle component system manufacturers.

And one of the most important industry products is the new breed of service technician equipped with the ability to maintain today's sophisticated power systems and those earmarked for future vehicles.

To supply this continuing need, vehicle and component manufacturers are re-training tens of thousands of experienced technicians every year. The vocational schools, and colleges are graduating thousands of young men annually who will become tomorrow's technicians.

And as the number of vehicles on the road grows each year, the industry is helping meet this service manpower demand by working closely with schools at "career day" assemblies, advising administrators and instructors on new teaching procedures, and providing industry sponsored schools.

CALLING A CAB? What looks like a telephone dial is actually a device to test whether a driver is in condition to operate the car. Developed by General Motors, the Phystester requires "dialing" a set of numbers in rapid sequence before ignition is possible. The Phystester also can help deter car thieves.

Cooling Systems Deserve More Than Anti-Freeze

If Car is More Than One Year Old Better Ask Service Technician For a Tune-Up No. 2

If your car is more than a year old, you're in line for cooling system problems or trouble. Could be a simple thing like a worn or cracked V-belt, a hose that's getting soft or brittle, a radiator cap that's not holding pressure. But, one thing's sure — when one part is about to give way, you can count on others needing attention, too.

So, don't stop your winter cooling system protection with just an anti-freeze check-up. Ask your service technician for a Tune-Up No. 2.

Here's what he'll do:

He'll thoroughly inspect and check all cooling system components — hoses, V-belts, water pump, thermostat, radiator caps, hose clamps. Then he'll replace worn or malfunctioning parts and set you up for carefree driving in any weather.

Cooling System Vital

Why is a cooling system tune-up so important? Remember, the cooling system of your car plays a vital role. It keeps the operating temperature of your engine at a level at which it performs at top efficiency.

To do this, automotive engineers came up with a pressurized cooling system. This permits the coolant to rise well above the normal boiling point without "boiling over." Modern engines, for example, are engineered with cooling systems that must withstand pressures in excess of 17 pounds plus underhood temperatures ranging as high as 278°. Keep in mind that the boiling point of water at sea level is 212°!

Heat's Damaging

These high heats and great pressures are bound to put a strain on all parts of your car's cooling system. Just one defective or worn part can cause your engine to overheat with possible extensive and costly repairs following quickly.

So don't let the fact that you may be driving a late model car lull you into thinking nothing can happen. A cooling system tune-up is even more important to your car, simply because its higher running temperature makes cooling system parts wear fast.

Rear-Mounted Light Cluster Signals Exact Driver Action

Imagine a world without traffic lights and think of the total confusion that would result.

If a proposed bill passes the U.S. Congress, every car manufactured will have its own version of traffic lights mounted on the rear end.

Should the proposal become law, automobiles would be equipped with a Tri-light system. The lights would signal the actions of the driver to other drivers in cars to the rear.

This light cluster would include the following:

1. The present rear red lights which signal the application of brakes.

2. Two rear amber lights that are activated when both the gas pedal and brake pedal are not depressed. (Or when the driver is about to stop or about to start up again.)

3. Two rear green lights activated by a depressed gas pedal. (Or when the driver has started up again.)

4. Amber rear turn signals, integrated with the amber lights in Point 2.

It is estimated the system would cost $15 per car.

Purpose of the system is to create more exact communication between drivers. It is hoped by proposers of the legislation that the number of rear-end collisions would be markedly reduced.

It's more than just a slogan.

Much more. Winter tests on motorists' cars showed that untuned cars had over twice the "won't starts" tuned cars had.

A major reason for this is worn spark plugs. They demand twice the voltage of plugs in good condition. And on a cold day, your battery supplies less voltage. When the supply can't meet the demand, your car won't start. No matter how hard you try.

So please consider our "slogan" and see your mechanic for his engine tune-up now—before trouble strikes. You'll enjoy dependable starts. Plus better acceleration and gas mileage. And reduced emissions, too.

Unique winter starting tests certified by the United States Auto Club involved 110 motorists in Sparta, New Jersey. Half of their cars were given a tune-up while the remaining cars were left in "as is" condition. After three months of normal use, the untuned cars had over twice as many "won't starts" as the tuned cars. The untuned cars averaged 5% poorer gas mileage, too. These wasted gas dollars—plus the cost of just one "won't start" service call—could just about pay for a tune-up!

Illinois Victim Is Now Suspect

A Granite City, Ill., man who told police Thursday night that he had been robbed by a hitchhiker was in city jail this morning facing charges of possession of dangerous drugs and carrying a concealed weapon.

Michael Gerhardt, 22, arrived at the police station at about 11 p.m. Thursday, and told police that a hitchhiker he had picked up in St. Genevieve had robbed him in Sikeston.

Detective Lt. Leonard Campbell was called to the station to hear Gerhardt's story. He had Gerhardt drive him to the place where the robbery occurred.

Campbell began searching the car to see if the robber had left anything behind when he found marijuana on the front floorboard. A further search of the car turned up amphetamines and other controlled drugs.

Gerhardt was searched and found to be carrying a switchblade knife. He told police the drugs and knife belonged to his attacker, but Campbell says he can prove the items belong to Gerhardt.

Campbell says he doubts the robbery story, but did not say why Gerhardt came to the police station.

Police also arrested Sam Clayborn Jr., 1920 Ford St., for trespassing and carrying a concealed weapon.

Bloomfield Bars Carnivals

BLOOMFIELD —City council members passed an ordinance Thursday night at the City Council meeting prohibiting carnival or shows on the streets of Bloomfield.

Elder Manufacturing Co. requested the use of a well adjacent to its property. The council agreed to give full cooperation.

The council also discussed building a new water plant and buying property for the plant from Raymond Duffey.

School Funds Disbursed

NEW MADRID —State school funds of $728,126 representing the September apportionment to the three districts in New Madrid County have been disbursed by County Treasurer W.R. Phillips, Jr.

Districts and amounts received are: New Madrid County R —1 Enlarged, $589,245; Gideon 37, $85,485 and Risco R —2, $53,396.

Remaining apportionments are scheduled for December, March and May.

NEW MADRID COUNTY COURT received petitions Thursday, signed by 2,102 county voters, requesting the court to order balloting on proposed voter registration in the Nov. 7 general election. From left are Raymond Ashley, presiding judge; John H. Clavin, associate judge, first district; James H. Workman, Jr., associate judge, second district; and attorney Charles C. Spitler who presented the petitions.

New Madrid Court Gets Petitions

NEW MADRID — Petitions endorsed by 2,102 New Madrid County voters seeking a referendum on voter registration in the county were presented Thursday to the County Court.

If the petitions and signatures are found to be valid and in compliance with state law, an order will be made by the court placing the proposal before the voters in the Nov. 7 general election.

The court is expected to rule on the petition within a week after checking petition signatures and other legal requirements.

Initiated as a non-partisan effort, the number of signatures obtained exceeds by more than 700 the required 15 per cent of total votes cast in the county for governor in the last general election.

Voter registration was rejected in the 1962 general election in New Madrid County, now one of 60 counties in the state which has not adopted the requirements.

Adjoining Bootheel counties where voter registration is required are Pemiscot, Dunklin, Mississippi, Scott and Stoddard.

Issue Warrant For Sisk Arrest

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of J.W. Sisk, 813 Pine St., for failing to appear in City Court Thursday night on charges of careless and imprudent driving, and destroying city and private property.

Judge Jim Sickal set Sisk's bond at $25 on each of the three charges and reset the hearing date for Oct. 5.

Sisk was charged after his car struck two other automobiles on Illinois Avenue and two mailboxes, a pickup truck, a bridge railing, a ditch and a fence on Ables Road.

Fred Wayne Barnett of Marshall, Tex. was fined $110 and placed on one-year suspended sentence for displaying a dangerous and deadly weapon. He was also fined $110 for discharging a firearm in the city and $20 for public intoxication.

Other cases and fines levied:

Luther Lee Green Jr., Route Four, careless and imprudent driving, $20; Larry Gene Parker, 1515 E. Gladys, careless and imprudent driving, dismissed on payment of $10 court costs; Art Garner, 1701 East Malone, speeding, $15.

Max A. Dodd, Jr., 423 William, assault and battery, $15; Charles M. Kaiser, 203 Selma, peace disturbance, $15; David C. Jones, Route Four, driving while intoxicated, $110.

Dennis Joe Odell of East Prairie, peace disturbance, $50; James W. Smith, 232 Smith St., driving while intoxicated, $110.

George W. Orr of Morehouse, careless and imprudent driving, forfeited bond of $29.

Lonnie Edward Cooks of Oran, peace disturbance, forfeited bond of $35, destroying private property, forfeited bond of $29; and William Faire of East Prairie, public intoxication, $19.

On Anti-Busing

McGovern Says Nixon Stand Is Cover Up For Failure

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. George McGovern today accused President Nixon of using the school busing issue in a "cynical and demagogic" attempt to cover failures in his education record.

His remarks came only hours after McGovern had told of plans to talk to American voters by television in a series of quiet "fireside chats."

His mood today was anything but quiet. At one point, his voice cracking, he paused to sip a glass of water and said smilingly, "I guess I'm yelling too loud." His audience of 700 or so members of the proMcGovern Retail Clerks union applauded even that remark.

The Democratic presidential nominee received his loudest and longest applause not on the remarks on education and busing, but in an unrehearsed counterattack on Vice President Spiro Agnew, who Thursday accused McGovern of following the line of North Vietnamese propaganda by attacking the administration's policy of bombing that country.

"I saw Agnew on television crying about my statements about the war this morning," McGovern said. "I want to say to Mr. Agnew,—don't you dare challenge my patriotism or my loyalty."

After the whooping and applause died down, McGovern, who was decorated for bravery as a World War II bomber pilot, continued: "I'm in this race for the presidency of the United States because I love this country enough to call it to a higher standard.

"I want us to be the great and good and decent and peaceful and just country that we ought to be and that we can be when we practice the great ideals that gave us birth two centuries ago," he said.

But rather than express strong support for busing school children for integration purposes, McGovern said he endorses whatever the courts rule on the matter and he attacked the President's record on federal aid to education.

"He has stood back and watched classrooms become so overcrowded that children have to share desks and teachers have no time to teach. And he has done nothing about it," McGovern said. "He has stood back and watched school systems go virtually bankrupt and homeowners go into debt to pay the taxes on their property, and he has done nothing about that."

Backtrack On Crossing Rule

City officials have backtracked from Thursday's statement that automobiles must come to a complete stop at school crossings, even if no stop sign is present.

They say they were in error; and that motorists must stop only if there is a stop sign or if pedestrians are in the crosswalk. The erroneous statement was made Thursday after complaints had been received from the schools that drivers were not stopping at the crosswalks.

Magistrate Hears 19 Cases

BLOOMFIELD — In Magistrate Court Thursday, Judge Koss Blomeyer heard 19 cases.

Harold Cloud had preliminary hearing set for Sept. 27 on two counts of exhibiting a deadly weapon and assault with intent to rape.

Earl Murray and Hank Murray, charged with two counts of stealing and trespassing, had their case passed by agreement to Oct. 19.

Ronald Dennis Brown, charged with possession of marijuan, pleaded guilty and was placed on probation under supervision for one year.

Rickey Mitchell, charged with nonsupport, had his case continued to Oct. 12.

Edward Wayne Wright of Bloomfield Route Three, charged with careless and imprudent driving and causing an accident, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 plus court costs.

Larry Davis Marvel, 148 Kitchen St. in Dexter, pleaded guilty to having no operator's license and was fined $10 and court costs.

Gary Wayne Kynion of Brownwood pleaded guilty to the charge of careless and imprudent driving while intoxicated and was fined $25 and court costs.

Wanda Sue Marvel of Dexter pleaded guilty to operating a motor vehicle without a license and paid a $10 fine and court costs.

Danny Gene McWilliams of Malden pleaded guilty to having improper registration and was fined $10 and court costs.

Virgil Dee Foster, charged with hunting with an unplugged gun, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $10 and court costs.

Clarence Andrew Kelso of Bell City, charged with supplying intoxicating liquor to a minor, had his case continued to Oct. 5.

John M. Moore of Dexter, charged with non support, had his case continued to Sept. 28.

Carlyn Dwain Morgan of Fisk pleaded guilty to a charge of driving with out-of-state operator's license and was fined $10, and court costs.

Harry Don Foster of Dudley Route One pleaded guilty to going 95 miles per hour in a 60 m.p.h. zone and was fined $35 and court costs.

Thomas Odell Miller of Lilbourn Route One, pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and was fined $10 and court costs.

Ronald Dale England, 201 N. Nelson in Dexter, pleaded guilty to going 80 miles per hour in a 60 m.p.h. zone and was fined $20 and court costs.

Troy Eugene Sowell of Friedheim Route one, charged with having no trailer license, pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and court costs.

Rickey Lynn Warren of Dexter Route Two, pleaded guilty to charges of possession of an intoxicating liquor and careless and imprudent driving while drinking. He was fined $65 and court costs.

Gary Michael Bollinger, James Elmer Gross and William Jack Thompson, charged with burglary and stealing, had preliminary hearing set for Oct. 12.

Heckemeyer Chairman Of Committee

JEFFERSON CITY —Tony Heckemeyer of Sikeston 157th District state representative, was chosen Thursday as chairman of the special legislative interim study group.

The committee will meet throughout the state to investigate the present status of ecology in Missouri, to determine what problems exist in our environment, how serious they are and what possible alternatives are available for their correction. They will meet with federal authorites in preparing for their report and recommendations.

In the previous Missouri General Assembly, Rep. Heckemeyer was selected as outstanding conservation legislator, by the Missouri Wild Life Federation and the Sears Foundation.

Open House Tour Saturday At Mingo

PUXICO — Mingo National Wildlife Refuge will open its gates Saturday for a pre-season tour of the refuge and its facilities. The refuge, three miles north of Puxico on Highway 51, is having the day-long tour as a part of National hunting and Fishing Day.

As explained by refuge manager Jerry Clawson of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the day is planned to emphasize the service hunters and fishermen have done toward preservation of the nation's wildlife and wilderness areas.

Clawson, an employe of the U.S. Department of the Interior, said that areas like Duck Creek, a favorite state-managed duck hunting and fishing refuge at the north boundary of Mingo, paid for the federal and state management programs through sales of licenses and hunting stamps.

The open house Saturday will be in the form of a self-guided tour through areas of the reguge normally closed to traffic except on Sundays during October and November.

One of the main areas of interst along this route is the archaeological site currently under study by Professors Scott Grantham and Gerold Thompson of Southeast Missouri State University. Within the past two weeks, the university team has uncovered skeletal remains that date from the time of Christ, some pieces of pottery and one projectile point of arrowhead that is of a type dating from 8,500 to 9,500 years ago.

Grantham has been able to confirm this date. The finding of this point, in connection with the much younger material, seems to indicate that one of the later Indians might have found the old point and was something of a primitive archaeologist himself.

Construction has begun at Mingo on a visitors center to house some of the artifacts from the site as well as telling the rest of Mingo's history. The center will be under the direction of refuge naturalist Ed McCrea.

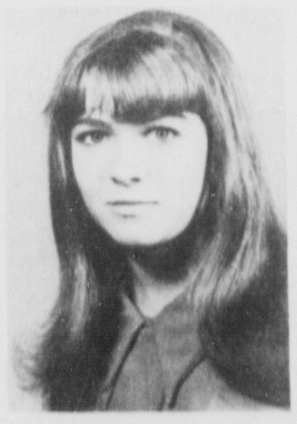
Other interests along the tour route are the many wilderness settings and the possibility of viewing some of the many types of wildlife to be found within the Mingo borders. Manager Clawson listed deer, turkey, teal and pintail ducks as some of the animals that might be seen.

Seven In Competition For Miss Cotton Carnival

Karen Elaine Conner

Seven high school beauties from surrounding counties have entered competition for Miss Cotton Carnival, which will be held Sept. 30 in Sikeston in conjunction with the American Legion Cotton Carnival.

Karen Elaine Conner, 14, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Conner of Parma Route One. Karen is a freshman at Richland High School. A blue-eyed blonde, her favorite subjects are physical education and algebra. She is sponsored by Richland R-1 ninth grade.



Luann Smith

Luann Smith, 17, is sponsored by the Benton Chamber of Commerce. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of Benton. Luann attends Notre Dame High School in Cape Girardeau where she is a senior. She hopes to attend St. Luke's School of Nursing in St. Louis after graduation.

Pam Brantley

Pam Brantley, 16, is sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 7822 and is serving as the Post's homecoming queen. A senior at Puxico High School, she likes contemporary history and plans to study child development in college. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Brantley of Puxico Route One.

Barbara Odom

Barbara Odom, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leotis Odom of rural Essex.

Angela Hare

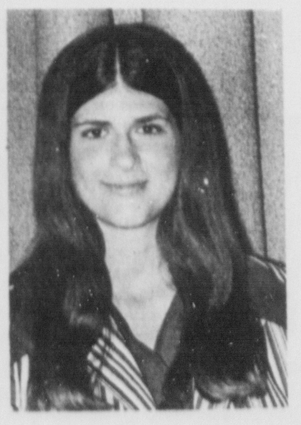
She is a sophomore at Richland High School where her favorite subject is band. She has brown hair and eyes. Her sponsor is Richland High School.

Angela Hare, 16, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hare of Essex. She is sponsored by the junior class at Richland High School and aspires to a journalism career.

Lawanda Hicks

She is five feet, four inches tall and has green eyes and blonde hair.

Lawanda Hicks, 17, is sponsored by the senior class at Richland High School. She is five feet, three inches tall, has brown hair and blue eyes. Her favorite subject is art. Lawanda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Hicks of rural Essex.



Shirley Quertermous

Shirley Quertermous, 17, of Charleston is sponsored by Charleston High School where she is a senior. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Quertermous of 408 Cleveland. Shirley's favorite subject is psychology, and she would like to attend business school after graduation and become a secretary.

THE PEOPLE THE U.N. FORGOT

Surely no institution has loftier principles than the United Nations. Settling world disputes and facilitating international discourse are worthwhile endeavors.

Doing good worldwide is to the U.N.'s credit. Lately, however, the organization has demonstrated questionable selectivity in where it chooses to do this good.

Ignoring Communist atrocities, U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim criticized the U.S. for bombing North Vietnamese dikes. Mr. Waldheim later admitted that he based his allegations on information provided by the North Vietamese, who have yet to admit that they have even one soldier in the South.

Manifestations of U.N. prejudice mount. American businessmen were fined for violating a U.N. ban on trading with Rhodesia. Other U.S. merchants sell computers, trucks and grain to the U.S.S.R., but this group was penalized for building a Rhodesian fertilizer plant.

Recently the Baltic nations, illegally absorbed by the Soviets in 1940, petitioned Mr. Waldheim about Communist abuses of their religion, schools and culture. When no reply came, many Balts reacted so violently that increased Soviet oppression was required.

Lithuanians, Latvians and Estonians do not see any logical reason for a world peace organization to ignore them. Busy lamenting North Vietnamese losses, Mr. Waldheim seems oblivious to the plight of those suffering under Communism.

Challenges to the U.N. are shunted away as being opposed to world peace. But the qeustion remains: Should the United States remain in it?

The Public Service Company of Colorado noted how Ohio Power Company planted more than two million seedling trees in its continuing program to make surface- mined land more attractive and valuable than it was originally. The company also sowed 700 acres with grass seed, pruned trees that had been planted 12 to 15 years ago and prepared other seedlings for storage and later planting. Since the program was started in 1944, Ohio Power has planted more than 32 million trees in four counties in southeastern Ohio. Much of the land has been turned into a recreational complex, visited last year by more than 61,000 persons.

GUN SAFETY COURSE

To be a safe hunter, you have to learn how to handle a gun from experts. With this thought in mind, the National Rifle Association established the first Hunter Safety training program in 1950. Today this program is followed in some form in over 41 states and six Canadian provinces. And it works! California statistics show the trained junior hunter is 19 times safer than the untrained; New York realized a 50% decrease in accidents. Remington Arms urges all new hunters to take courses similar to the NRA Hunter Safety course.

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people in this world seem to have all the luck.

Nothing bad ever happens to them. They are immune to the ambushes of fate that make life's road perilous to the rest of us.

Their cars never run out of gas unexpectedly or refuse to start on cold days. They never lose money in the stock market, and they are able at will to make red-haired girls fall in love with them.

There is a name for these people. They are so lucky that they are called born winners, and everyone else envies them their luck.

It isn't too hard to tell whether you belong to this elite society or not. You are probably a born winner if —

The harelip you had at birth turns out to be just what you needed to become a teen-age rock music singing star.

When you were 10, you helped an old man across the street, and it turned out he was a horse dealer, and he was so pleased with you that he loaned you a shetland pony free.

As a Cub Scout at 11 you caught the scoutmaster playing hanky-panky with one of the den mothers. But you knew enough to keep your little trap shut and by the time you were 13 you were an Eagle Scout, and the scoutmaster had awarded you every Merit Badge in the manual.

You had a straight "A" record in college and won a Ph. D. by 23 because the first guy on the campus you shook hands with as a freshman became your buddy. As he worked in the print shop that printed all the college exam papers, you were able to get a copy of the questions two days before you had to take any quiz.

You became a dean by marrying the president of the university's beautiful daughter and naming your first son after him.

She inherited from both her grandfather and grandmother. And then your good-for-nothing uncle who had run away to Australia and made a fortune there pulling wool over people's eyes, died and left you enough sheep — and cash — to suit your every need.

Now you don't call on your banker. He calls on you.

When a sudden flood left your house surrounded by 10 feet of water, you sold it at a big profit as "lakefront property."

Each of the three beauteous private secretaries in the office of the huge educational foundation you now head — your big task is how to give away all the money — has presented you privately with a gold key to her apartment.

Yep, if these things are true of you, you're a born winner who can't lose from winning. The only thing in life that worries you is that you can't live forever or take it with you when you go.

'NEWSPAPERS CAUSE OUR PROBLEMS'

"Publicity is the cause of all the problems we have in the world today. If newspaper and TV and radio didn't print all the news about riots and wars and murders and hijackings then they wouldn't happen so frequently ..."

Sound familiar? We hear it every day. Newspapers are the cause of this, newspapers are the cause of that ... "If you didn't give quite so much of the story then the other guys wouldn't get the idea ..."

The fact is that people who look to blame the media for the world's ills are looking for a quick and easy answer to our problems. They are afraid to face the real questions of race, poverty, war, hunger, and pollution head on, they would rather stick their heads in the sand and place the fault on the press.

News is news no matter how you look at it. Weekly we get criticized for overreacting to one story, or bombarded from all sides for not spotlighting another. It seems to be a question not of which story is the more sensational, but rather a question of which article has the most interest to whom.

So it must boil down to the simple fact that the story getting the page one coverage is the story with the most impact on the greatest number of people, the story that happened the most recently or the story which historically has the great reader interest.

The editor must make these decisions on a daily basis taking into consideration the technical problems of his medium (there are only so many minutes in a newscast or so many inches alloted in a newspaper for news coverage.)

The editor must keep one thing in mind when deciding what the paper or newscast will look like each issue, that is the fact that if no one reads or watches then his work has gone for naught.

Public interest, reader surveys, telephone interviews, personal contact, and "gut reaction" all combine to give the media some idea of what the public wants to see and hear. As unfortunate as it may seem, we must yield at least in part to the average citizen as, in the last analysis, he foots the bill.

We do not by any stretch of the imagination advocate sensationalistic reporting, banner headlines on horrendous crimes, or pictorial essays on this or that atrocity. The media must strive to be objective while at the same time producing a product that the public will buy. This most certainly is not an easy task.

As to whether or not news stories have an impact on the population causing other incidents, there is little question that they may have some affect.

However, it is doubtful that riots in the major cities would have erupted after the Watts disturbances if the seeds of the problems in Watts did not exist in other cities. The fact that major disturbances in many cities (New York, Atlanta, Chicago and others) were avoided can be traced at least in part to the education these cities received through the reporting of the news media.

To be responsible, the media must report ALL the news fairly, objectively, and completely. We must assume that the population can handle the problems of the world we live in, and pray that all will work to eliminate them. Maybe the dream of every editor will come true, that is that he can truthfully say that all the stories he published fall under the heading "good news."

JUST THINKING

I have been mulling over the words of Francis Bacon, the English philosopher of the sixteenth century. He said: "It is not what men eat, but what they digest, that makes them strong; not what we gain, but what we save, that makes us rich; not what we read, but what we absorb, that makes us learned; not what we preach, but what we practice, that makes us lovable."

Suddenly he lowered his head, stretched out his arms, and barged through the crowd.

"Can't you ack like a gentleman?" inquired a cold feminine voice at his elbow.

"I've been acting like a gentleman for the past hour," replied the man, still charging forward. "From now on I'm going to act like a lady."

Why do so many foods contain additives today?

Food preparation is moving rapidly from the home kitchen to the food factory and storage time between preparation and eating is longer. Proper and safe additives are necessary to keep foods safe, pure and wholesome. Additives are quite safe in ordinary amounts for healty people. Sugar and slat, for instance, are common additives and will affect the taste of food when used in exces. Additives are listed by chemical names such as sodium chloride, calcium acid phosphate, acetic acid, sodium acid carbonate, amulum, potassium bitartrate and hydrogen oxide. Their familiar names are salt, baking powder, vinegar, soda, cornstarch, cream of tartar and water.

Are consumers ever asked to evaluate new packages and make suggestions to manufacturers?

After testing packages to determine what protects best, most manufacturers offer a choice of packages to hundreds of homemakers to determine what will appeal to them. The package they choose is an important consideration in the final choice.

Where can I find out about small heating appliances for an add-on room?

Gas and electric utilities, plumbing and heating firms and some appliances distributors and mail order catalogs will have pictures and specifications for these appliances. Before shopping you should know the size of the area you wish to heat, the approximate space available and the presence or absence of a chimney or flue. Many states now have laws specifying certain requirements for room heaters. Be sure the models you consider measure up to the law.

'I DO' REECHOES IN WHITE HOUSE

The Edward Cox-Tricia Nixon wedding is the 16th such happy event to take place in the White House.

The nuptail history of the presidential mansion goes back to March 20, 1812, when Dolley Madison's sister, Lucy Payne Washington, became the first White House bride in a ceremony uniting her with Thomas Dodd, an associate justice of the Supreme Court.

The first daughter of a president to be married in the White House was Maria Hester Monroe, who married Samuel Gouverneur, her cousin and her father's secretary, on March 9, 1820.

President James Monroe spent $100 on candles, say the historical experts with the national Geographic Society, but little else in the way of show. Because of a clampdown on publicity, the only social notice was a 34-word newspaper account published two days later.

By contrast, President Andrew Jackson spent $10,000 to refurnish the White House— including 20 deluxe $12.50 spitoons—for the wedding of his niece, Mary Eastin, to Lucius J. Polk of Tennessee.

Nellie Grant, daughter of President Ulysses S. Grant, reportedly cost her father $10,000 for her wedding gown alone when she was married on May 21, 1874. But the bridegroom, an Englishman named Algernon Sartoris, made history of a sort by carrying his own bouquet.

Another virtually ignored ceremony was the marriage of President John Tyler's daughter, Elizabeth, to William N. Waller of Virginia on January 31, 1842. Newspapers reported the event in one sentence.

Not so when Lynda Bird Johnson married Capt. Charles S. Robb on December 9, 1967. At least 500 ladies and gentlemen of the press, radio and TV were on hand.

The only president to be married in the White House was, of course, Grover Cleveland, who married 22-year-old Frances Folsom on June 2, 1886. Anticipating the women's lib movement by some 85 years, Cleveland deleted the word "obey" from his bride's wedding vows.

And for the record, the only son of a president to be a White House bridegroom was John Adams, son of John Quincy Adams, who married his cousin, Mary Catherine Hellen, on February 25, 1828.

LET'S ATTACK CRIME

Crime continues to show an upsurge in the United States. The annual report of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, recently released and reported in all the news media, showed that lawlessness in the nation has not been curtailed. Statistics, fed by local law enforcement agencies to the FBI computers, make it plain that not enough emphasis is being placed on the crime problem by any of us. The criminal remains the foremost internal enemy.

Many police officers we know say that too much emphasis is being placed on the social aspect of crime. Huge grants from federal and private sources emphasize the correction of background conditions that socialists say create criminal conditions. These officers believe that enforcement of the law should come first and that seems like a reasonable premise.

Adherence to the laws of the land should come first with the citizens. In days gone by, violations were strictly the work of the professional thief but that simply is not true any more. Many people who would never contemplate stealing now take to the streets to smoke marijuana openly and also to violate the rights of private property. They do it in the name of individual freedom, forgetting that they too have restraints imposed upon them by the law which is made to protect all of society. Without the law and adherence to it, we are in a primitive jungle.

We recommend support of the LAW —AID program. It embodies individual compliance with the law and support of those officers, prosecutors and courts who are sworn to uphold the laws of the land. Participation in the LAW —AID program is just as vital as combatting our enemies from without. Tranquility on the domestic front and strength on the foreign front are essential to our survival. HLH

Inside Labor

Inside White House:
Nixon Watches As Agnew's New Image Gets First Test

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — Just about four years ago, a former labor lawyer I know, by name of Spiro "Ted" Agnew, was in a Boston hotel when I caught up with him. Hurriedly he was getting into a formal dinner jacket for a political banquet speech and we decided to talk later. But as he broke away he said ironically, "I guess I'd save time if I dressed in the image some of your colleagues have been painting me --in loin cloth and stone axe."

Four years and several score tough stances later Vice President Agnew virtually re-imaged. It began, in effect, over the July 7 weekend. A few days earlier, on June 30, President Nixon had telephoned Clark MacGregor and asked him to come to the Oval Room.

They talked. And almost immediately afterwards MacGregor, campaign manager, called Spiro Agnew. He didn't get him immediately. But the Vice President returned the call the afternoon of July 1 and they arranged to meet over the July 7 weekend right after MacGregor returned from San Clemente where he had discussed with Mr. Nixon the campaign pattern and strategy.

When Agnew and MacGregor met that weekend in the Vice President's Executive Office Building headquarters, Mr. Agnew said he wanted to campaign hard on the positive side, on the issues, on programs but not on personalities as he has. It was agreed.

Not too much later the President was invited by the Bricklayers president Tom Murphy to speak at their Las Vegas convention on Sept. 11 or any convenient date that week. Mr. Nixon considered flying out but then asked Murphy if he'd mind if Vice President Agnew were surrogated for him. The Bricklayers were "delighted," though Secretary of Labor Hodgson was scheduled to speak the next day.

And Ted Agnew, whilom Maryland lawyer for the Meatcutters, the Teamsters and the maritime unions, et al., was back in an old milieu --speaking of real weekly earnings, employment statistics, and the increase in jobs "despite the deliberate winding down of the war," and how the government wanted to get out of collective bargaining as swiftly as possible by ending controls.

President Nixon thereby had tested political waters and they were calm. Mr. Agnew was well received. He was on his way not only to "fund raisers" but to other unions, ethnic groups, a vast field of blue-collar workers.

The next day, Sept. 12, President Nixon told party leaders in the White House East Room that the Vice President could handle "both of those fellows" in the ring at the same time. The reference obviously was to the Democratic national candidates.

Agnew was taking the traditional role of Vice Presidents and Vice Presidential candidates of both parties. Sargent Shriver, too, had hit the labor trail, talking to local groups, whipping up conventions, and bouncing off with vital endorsements for his principal, George McGovern.

But for Shriver, this was doing what comes naturally in the Democratic party. Every place he stopped it was Kennedy Day.

But for Ted Agnew it isn't as simple. For four years now it has been President Nixon who has been the Administration's liaison with labor's top and second -echelon leaders. Mr. Nixon has done far more than drink beer with George Meany. The President has been on the phone with union chiefs --increasing his tempo these past weeks. And he has seen many more than has been reported and an array far distant from the Teamsters of Frank Fitzsimmons with whom Mr. Nixon conferred privately during the Republican national convention in Miami last August.

Into the Oval Room have come as diverse a group of labor men as the former president of the New York Patrolmen's Benevolent Assn., Ed Kiernan (now head of the International Conference of Police Associations), and a California Retail Clerks official. Just the other day Mr. Nixon telephoned the head of the Utility Workers, and old CIO union which endorsed him. Soon there will be a series of such outright endorsements to counter the swing to Sen. McGovern.

Ted Agnew has not wanted to crisscross this Presidential "jurisdiction." But now the President has given the signal --by passing on the Bricklayers' invitation. And, thus, the Vice President is moving into the field --old familiar places full of familiar faces. It's generally forgotten that Ted Agnew was Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's advance man in '67. And that Agnew had slipped quietly into the AFL —CIO Bal Harbour convention hotel to gear up labor support in December of that year --especially that of the influential Seafarers' chief Paul Hall --for the New York governor.

Of course there's more riding here than the 1972 election. Ted Agnew wants passionately to win --and then roll on to 1976. His staff people don't shy from discussing this with their intimates. They are putting together "the lists" which are the essential forerunners of primary campaigns and drives for funds.

They're ready for Nov. 8 --and what they believe is as certain as sunrise. Then they'll analyze the new image. Did it remake Agnew? Or did it lose him his constituency? Or can he keep the best of two political milieus?

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON —A mysterious electronic ray to knock out hijackers was developed by the Federal Aviation Administration but was put aside after a fierce internal debate.

The high -frequency ray system, labeled "Operation Zeke," was one of several classified schemes considered by Dr. H.L. Reighard, who headed a task force formed in 1969 to counter an epidemic of Cuban -bound hijackers.

As developed by FAA scientists, the pilot or a crewman could actuate a pulsing ray which coursed between two set points in the plane. Anyone passing through the ray would knocked unconscious.

The original plan was to put the two "ray boxes" near the door to the cockpit so the pilot could see the hijacker, perhaps lure him toward the cockpit and cut him down.

At first, there was enthusiasm over the system. It did not kill, but merely knocked out its victim. As one government aide put it, the hijacker "would wake up wondering what happened to him."

Crude prototypes were tested, but were never used on a hijacker. After the initial excitement over "Operation Zeke," however, doubts began to plague the FAA task force.

What would happen, scientists wondered, if the hijacker had an accomplice. The second man might panic and begin firing if he saw his companion unaccountably slump to the floor.

Or a malfunction might prevent the powerful ray from felling the hijacker immediately. In the second before he fainted, he could spray the passengers with bullets or explode the plane with a grenade.

After agonized discussions, the FAA finally decided the system had too many kinks for commercial airliners. The project was abandoned, although modest research on such immobilizing techniques has continued.

Now advocates are saying that the magic rays, if perfected, might have saved not only 11 murdered Israeli Olympic athletes but the Arab terrorists who died with them. They say portable ray boxes might have been available which would fell multiple hijackers in such special circumstances as Munich.

Footnote: Dr. Reighard would say only he was "distressed and disturbed" that we had learned of "Operation Zeke." He insisted his task force had considered every feasible hijack control before putting aside any of them as impractical.

—GUERRILLAS AND DOPE —

Intelligence reports charge that the Palestinian guerrillas in Lebanon are hampering U.S. efforts to cut off the illegal flow of heroin and hashish from the Mideast to America.

"Turkish opium and morphine base is smuggled into Lebanon," says one report, "directly or through Syria." From Lebanon, some shipments are routed to South America, others to Rotterdam for transshipment to the U.S.

It's difficult to stop the dope smuggling out of Lebanon, suggests another classified document, because "internal security and the presence of about 30,000 armed guerillas in the country pose a major threat to the government.

"The police are restrained from proceeding against the hashish production and trafficking in the Baalbeck area as there is strong parliamentary involvement in the traffic," the report adds.

In all fairness, the harassed Lebanese government has tried to control the Palestinians. But William Buffum, the American ambassador, has pointed out that "the Lebanese authorities have not dared to set foot in any of the country's 15 refugee camps for the past two years."

As evidence of the trouble the guerrillas are causing in Lebanon, the Central Intelligence Agency has summarized the Palestinian offenses, notably:

"A. Customs evasion, nonpayment of postal and telephone dues, flouting of vehicles registration regulations.

"B. The presence in refugee camps of large colonies of alien squatters.

"C. Refusal by individuals to comply with court orders, pay fines or answer summonses, under the protection both of the camp police and of their fedayeen aliases.

"D. Seizure and occupation of land outside the defined camp boundaries.

"E. Specific incidents of ill -discipline."

Reports also persist that the Palestinian terrorists are actually raising their arms money by smuggling dope. The intelligence data in our hands, however, fails to pin down this charge.

The U.S., meanwhile, has brought quiet pressure upon the Lebanese authorities to crack down on the smuggling. Although they may be somewhat helpless to prevent it, the classified documents recommend as a last resort that the U.S. "expose Labanon" --one of our few friends in the Arab sphere -- "in the world press as source and transshipment country for hashish and opiates respectively."

Charges Expected Today

CHARLESTON — Willie George Robinson, 21, Clyde Cleve 17, and a juvenile, all of Charleston, are being held in Mississippi County jail and charges of stealing are expected to be filed today.

The three are accused of stealing five batteries from combines at the Simmons Equipment Co. on West Marshall Street the night of Sept. 20.

They were arrested Thursday by city police and reportedly took authorities to where they had hidden the batteries is a shed about three miles west of Charleston.

Recorder Ownerless

A Dejun Grundig tape recorder was found about noon Thursday lying in the grass on the east side of Crumpecker Implement Company, 2008 East Malone, by an employe of the firm.

Police believe it may be stolen and are trying to trace it.

Delta Child Hit

A child was slightly injured Thursday in Delta in one of two area accidents which resulted in two injuries on Southeast Missouri highways, the highway patrol reported today.

Injured was Tonia Renee Brown, 10, of Delta. She ran into the path of a car at the junction of Highway 25 and Route N in Delta. The child was taken to Chaffee General Hospital. Driver of the car was Vickie Sue McDaniel, 17, also of Delta.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday on Roxie Road one mile west of Poplar Bluff, a car driven by David Allen Burford, 28, of Poplar Bluff, ran off the road into a ditch and struck a dirt embankment. He was taken to Doctors Hospital in Poplar Bluff for observation.

Present Check

The Sikeston Pilots Association will hand a $300 check to City Manager Jim Huff today. The money represents the proceeds from the association-sponsored air show, according to Bill Swann, president of the association.

He said the association would request that the money be used for mowing equipment at the airport.

ISRAELI STRIKES

TEL AVIV (AP) — Strikes in Israel cost the economy 20,658 workdays in the first three months of this year, 30 per cent more than in the same period last year, the Labor Ministry reported. There were 46 strikes involving 17,077 workers and another 21 partial work stoppages.

BLACK-FINANCED HOUSING

ST. CROIX, Virgin Islands (AP) — Singer-composer Isaac Hayes has announced that he and a group of black businessmen have undertaken the sponsorship of a $100 million housing project for low-income families in the United States.

It is considered the largest and most ambitious project of its kind to be initiated entirely by black financial interests. It will be garden apartments in various parts of the country, aimed at housing more than 20,000 persons within the next five years. Specific cities have not been announced but Hayes says he wants most of them to be in the South.

An $8 million, 20-acre, 250-unit development in St. Croix, financed solely by Hayes, is completed

Sgt. John W. Bizzell of Sikeston recently received the Army Commendation Ribbon during ceremonies at 24th Infantry Division Headquarters, Sendal, Japan. He was decorated for meritorious service.

September 25th marks the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Grant of Morehouse, which they are quietly observing at the home of a son -in -law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Spence with whom they reside.

Henry J.K. Goerz, father of Mrs. Vernon Guttenfelder, 228 Sikes avenue, died Wednesday at his home in Anderson, Ind.

It's twin baby boys for Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Hodges of Sikeston born at the Delta Community Hospital on the 24th.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Julius Oliger of Lilbourn on the 24th.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gonzales of Morehouse are parents of a son born on the 24th.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson of Dexter Monday at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape.

Mrs. Felix Gallagher of Tuscon, Ariz., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S.E. Reed for a few weeks.

JAZZ PROFITS DIVIDED

NEW YORK (AP) — The Newport Jazz Festival in New York presented a check for $5,924.28 to the New York and National Urban Leagues. This was half the profits of the festival, held July 1-9 this year.

George Wein, festival producer, said that more than 100,000 persons paid approximately $516,000 in ticket sales. He said about $100,000 came from sponsors, the biggest being Schlitz and American Airlines. He said costs were more than $600,000.

At one time a spokesman for the two Urban Leagues hoped to realize from $100,000 to $200,000 from the festival.

What's The Law

Made Marion Collapse

By Jack Strauss LL. B.

In true gangland style Bill sauntered into a bar and grill and, firing two shots into the ceiling, announced a holdup. The only one who was held up, however, was Marion. Upon hearing the shots and seeing gun -wielding Bill, she suffered a heart attack and collapsed into the arms of another customer in the gin mill.

And to compound Bill's confusion at the unexpected turn of events, when later captured, he was charged with murder as a consequence of Marion's subsequent death.

"Someone's off his rocker," protested Bill in court. "I'm no killer. The fact is, I wouldn't even sway a fly. As for Marion, I didn't even see her in the bar and grill. And obviously, if I didn't see her, I couldn't have murdered her. Besides," he added, "she died of a heart attack, not a gunshot would."

"Whether he saw her or not," responded the district attorney, "is of no consequence. She's dead and that's what's important. And since her demise was due to Bill's gunning little ways, he's responsible for her death. That makes him guilty of murder."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict Bill of murdering the fainthearted Marion?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that when a person perpetrates a high crime, such as a holdup, he creates a great human risk which can result in the loss of life and for which he can be held accountable. In htis case, concluded the judge, while not physical force may have been used against Marion, there was mental force exerted against her when Bill blasted away at the ceiling.

The Prayer from the Upper Room

The stuff they had was sufficient for all the work to make it, and too much. (Exodus 36:7)

PRAYER: O God, give us willing hearts, ready to do whatever Your Holy Spirit tells us. May we cheerfully and willingly give to You all that we have and are. In Christ's name. Amen.

INCREASE FOR LABOR

TEL AVIV (AP) — Finance minister Pinhas Sapir says the Israeli economy will pay $310 million more to workers this year than last. Nearly one-third of the increase was attributed to a cost-of-living bonus.

Region Seven Of FHA Meets

HAYTI — Region seven of Future Homemakers of America held an officers' workshop here Tuesday.

The meeting was brought to order by regional president Debra Baxter.

Nearly 130 girls and advisors from nearby towns attended the mass meeting. Each brought a sack lunch and soft drinks were provided.

After assembling back into the gymnasium, the project for the year, "We're all for older Missourians", was discussed. Regional officers put on a skit pertaining to this.

Each chapter officer was assigned to meet in a specified location for the officers meeting. Conducting these meetings were Debra Baxter, Terry Hinchey, Diane Nance, Carla Woodard, Cindy Crabtree, Terry Barger, Deborah Hall and Dawne Denson.

After the summary and announcements of a regional meeting to be held in Kennett on Oct. 17, the meeting was adjourned.

Dover-MacBride

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Durward Dover

First Baptist Church was the scene of the Sept. 10. wedding of Miss Lynda Louise MacBride and Joseph Durward Dover.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. MacBride, 639 E. Gladys, and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Durward Dover of Oran Route One. The Rev. Clyde Riddle performed the double -ring ceremony at 3 p.m.

The church was decorated with baskets of white gladiolus and apricot daisy pompoms. They flanked an arched candelabra, which was decorated with greenery and apricot bows.

Prenuptial music was provided by Joel Allen. As the bridesmaids entered, he played the traditional "Wedding March". As the bride entered with her father, the "Wedding March" was played on the chimes. During the ceremony, Joe Williams sang, "I'll Walk With God" and Audrey Beck sang, "One Hand One Heart".

The bride chose for her wedding a formal gown of white, sheer organza and re -embroidered Alencon lace. The high neckline and empire bodice was richly trimmed with re -embroidered Alencon lace extending over the shoulder line and onto the sheer Camelot sleeves and finished with cuffs trimmed with the same type of lace. The A —line silhouette skirt was of sheer organza, softly gathered at the back with a lace -trimmed flounce tracing the bottom of the skirt.

Her double, floor -length mantilla of bridal illusion was edged with matching lace and was held secure with a Queen Anne tiara completely overlaid with lace.

She carried white Cattleya orchids, white carnations,babies' breath and English Ivy in a cascade.

Miss Sheila Clinton was maid of honor. Matron of honor was Mrs. Carla Blankenbeker, and Miss Sharon Henley served as bridesmaid.

They wore identical gowns of apricot organza embossed with white flowers and underlined with polyester. They had high necklines with an empire bodice trimmed with a belt and bow. The full, organza sleeves were finished with ruffles at the wrist. The skirt was softly gathered and had a flounce at the bottom to match the brides' gown.

They wore white picture hats with apricot net on the band folding into a smooth knot with streamers down the back. Flocked flowers were attached to the hat and were designed by the brides' mother. They carried white, lace -trimmed baskets of gladiolus, talisman roses, white and yellow mums, carnations and babies' breath.

The groom chose his brother, Jim Dover, as his best man. Groomsmen were Bill Sparks and John Blankenbeker. Ushers were Derek Wheeler and Larry Whorton. They also served as candlelighters before the ceremony.

Mrs. MacBride chose for her daughter's wedding a light green, crepe dress with a roll collar trimmed with lace and long, full sleeves of matching organza, and a sleeveless organza coat with matching accessories. She wore a Cattleya orchid corsage.

Mrs. Dover wore a beige, double knit coat dress trimmed with gold braid and seed pearls with gold accessories. She also wore a Cattleya orchid corsage.

Honored guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brown of Sikeston, Mrs. Jeanie MacBride of St. Louis and the groom's grandfather, J.W. Dover of Sikeston. Each grandmother wore a white carnation corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room of the church. A silver candelabra was on each side of the three -tier wedding cake, accompanied by a silver coffee set and punch bowl completing the refreshment table, which was covered with a white damask cloth. Serving were Misses Sheila Vanpool, Debbie Murphy and Carol Walden. Miss Donna West attended the guest book. Mrs. Margaret Lee of Sikeston was in charge of the reception.

Following a short honeymoon, the couple is at home at 625 Sikes St.

The new Mrs. Dover is employed at Wal -Mart Discount City in Sikeston. The groom is employed at Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Edmondson, Al Whorton and Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Thompson of Oran, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Wheeler of Morley and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Sallee and children of Oran.

A rehearsal dinner was given Sept. 9 at the Mid -Towner Restaurant by the groom's parents.

On Aug. 13 a surprise shower was given for the bride at First Baptist Church. Hostesses were Mrs. John Blankenbeker, Miss Sharon Henley and Mrs. Lynn Ingram.

On Sept. 9, a bridal luncheon was given by Mrs. Ray Clinton and Sheila at their home with the bridal party attending.

Ann Landers

House Guests Pleasure To Some And Pain To Others

Dear Ann Landers: My hat is off to that smart woman who has no guest room, no fold -up cots, and her sofas are too short too sleep on. Her home is her castle, as it should be --not a free motel for slap -happy gypsies. That other nut who expressed delight at bedding down and feeding eight unexpected relatives for five days must have rocks in her head. She also must have a private tunnel to the Chase Manhattan Bank. That's 80 extra meals, Lady, not counting breakfasts.

Several years ago, when I had an extra bedroom a group of invaders stormed my home. They brought huge appetites, six pieces of luggage, a Russian wolfhound and a box of dog biscuits. Three months later we moved to our present setup and we've never been happier.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world and if anyone wants to call me selfish, let them. Familiarity breeds contempt. If you don't believe me, just look around at the broken friendships between people who got too clubby. ---Too Thick Won't Stick

Dear Too Thick: Thank you for "the other side." The majority of letters on the subject were from people who just love unexpected company. It does, indeed, take all kinds. Speaking strictly for myself, I'm with you.

Dear Ann Landers: Our organization, Recovery, Inc., is more than 35 years old but until your column publicized it, we were relatively unknown. Thanks to you, Ann, our attendance has grown enormously, we have started several new chapters and are now reaching far greater numbers of people and helping them cope with problems of emotional illness.

One of your readers expressed gratitude to Recovery for helping her stay functional for fifteen years. She had tried psychiatry, yoga, religion and hypnosis, but nothing helped. Recovery, Inc., she said, was the best bargain in the world --it cost her only a quarter a week, the price of the coffee and cake.

May I point out, Ann, that while there is no charge to attend meetings we do take up a free -will offering. Any amount is accepted. If a person can't put anything in the plate, that's all right, too. We do have, however, a membership charge of $7.50 a year, which includes a subscription to our bi -monthly magazine. "The Recovery Reporter." Since we are a non -profit, self -supporting organization, we need paid memberships to continue our work.

So even at $7.50 a year, Recovery is still a bargain. Where else can a person find the strength and fellowship to help him stay in the real world? --- Grand Rapids Member

Dear Member: Thank you for setting the record straight. Thank you, too, for giving me another opportunity to tell my readers about this remarkable organization. Almost everyone who works in Recovery is an unpaid volunteer. These formerly emotionally -ill people consider it a privilege to help others because they themselves have been helped.

The address of the National Headquarters for those who want more information is: Recovery, Inc., 116 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60603. I urge nervous people who are fighting to stay balanced and functional to give Recovery Inc. a try.

Confidental to Funny Money: Of course "money talks" --and it seems to be saying "goodbye." What you are referring to is called "inflation" and smarter heads than mine have tried, without success, to find a solution.

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers' booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 35c in coin along with a long, stamped, self -addressed envelope and your request to this newspaper.

MERL IS BACK

Merl Keefer

We are proud to welcome Merl back to our sales and management staff, after an absence of almost 4 years. He and his family recently returned from Portland, Oregon where he worked as a furniture Decorator-Salesman. He acquired some very valuable experience while working for some of the better furniture stores in the Portland area.

Merl spent 19 years with us, starting as a delivery man, and became a member of our sales staff, and then manager of our furniture department prior to his move to Portland, Oregon. He has had a broad base of experience in the retail furniture field. Merl has many friends and acquaintances in the Sikeston area. We want to take this opportunity to let you know he is back with us. We invite you to come in and let help you solve your home furnishings problems.

NEW STORE PLANNED

Merl will be the manager of the new furniture store we plan to build in the near future across from the Kingsway Plaza. This will be a larger modern store, incorporating some of the better brands of quality home furnishings and up to date display techniques. We believe Sikeston needs a store of this caliber. The increased selection of this new store, plus Lewis Furn. center on West Malone Ave. will offer one of the largest selections of Quality home furnishings to be found between St. Louis and Memphis.

We are constantly working to serve you better.

We are happy to have Merl back with us in time for our September Inventory Clearance Sale to help us pass these fantastic bargains on to you.

Come in and get acquainted or re-acquainted (which ever it may be) .
He'll be glad to see you!

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ray Jackson

Jackson - Winkle

CHARLESTON — Miss Connie Sue Winkle and Kenneth Ray Jackson were married Aug. 20 at 5 p.m., in First Christian Church. The Rev. Larry Long officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Winkle of Morehouse, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Jackson of Charleston.

Miss Jane Gray of Sikeston, pianist, played the "Wedding March" as the bride entered and theme from "Love Story" and "We've Only Just Begun."

Mrs. Carlene Anderson of Cape Girardeau, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Edward Kinder, wore a floor-length gown of sheer silk organza over taffeta. The dress featured an empire waistline with a slender bodice. The high neckline was trimmed with lace and the long, sheer bishop sleeves were also trimmed with four rows of the lace. The skirt was gently gathered in the back. A white velvet ribbon tied in a bow in front with long streamers accented the waistline. Her veil was of silk illusion attached to a Juliet cap accented by lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white daisies with long white streamers.

Albert Jackson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Howard Jackson, of Sikeston, brother of the groom, and Charles Miller of Houston, Tex., brother-in-law of the groom.

Immediately after the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall at the church. Mrs. Howard Jackson, sister-in-law of the groom and Mrs. Charles Miller, sister of the groom, presided over the refreshment table.

After a short wedding trip to Memphis, the couple is now residing at 307 North Heggie St. in Charleston.

The bride attended Morehouse grade school and is a 1972 graduate of Sikeston High School.

The groom is a 1972 graduate of Charleston High School.

Teachers Attend Delta Gamma Meeting

HAYWARD —Mrs. Jewell Burgess was hostess to a luncheon for members of Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Saturday. Assisting with the buffet style luncheon were Miss Gray Brown, Mrs. Eula Kimes, Mrs. Georgia Ellington and Mrs. Katherine Bass, all of Portageville.

Mrs. Madge Utterback of New Madrid, chapter president, presided over the brief business meeting. Miss Gray Brown, chairman of the program committee shared with the group the plans her committe had made for the 1972 73 yearbook. She presented a list of prospective meeting places and hostesses for the group to approve. Program topics and program leaders were announced.

The continuing program theme for the year will be "Changing Times —Challenge or Dilemma". New chapter committes were announced.

Mrs. Utterback encouraged all new committee members and their chairman to attend the Southeast Missouri district workshop for Delta Kappa Gamma members in St. Louis on Oct. 7.

The ritual of initiation membership was given to Mrs. Brenda Curtis of Matthews.

Area teachers attending the meeting were: Mrs. Freida Park of Malden, Mrs. Margaret Evans of Sikeston, Miss Jeannette Haubold of Marston, Mrs. JoAnne Hardin of Kewanee and Mrs. Earlene Moore of Portageville.

Baylor Visits MU

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Tigers, with one victory tucked away and a week of rest, face Baylor Saturday in a football game which may feature heavy passing by both teams. The game begins at 2:30 p.m., EDT.

The Tigers opened their season with a 24-22 decision over Oregon. The visiting Bears were beaten 24-14 by Georgia last week in their only start.

John Cherry will be at quarterback for Missouri. A junior college transfer, Cherry operated the Tigers' new wishbone with success against Oreton. The running backs will be Bill Ziegler and a junior college transfer, Leroy Moss.

Ken Gregory, a defensive back for Missouri, has a knee injury and may not start.

Sophomore Neal Jeffrey, the Baylor quarterback, completed 18 of 30 passes for 183 yards against Georgia, and split end Charles Dancer caught eight passes for 80 yards. Tailback Gary Lacy leads the Bears in rushing with 64 yards on 16 carries.

"Baylor demonstrated in its game with Georgia they have an enthusiastic football team," says Missouri Coach Al Onofrio. "We expect a dogfight."

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff points to the mistakes his team made against Georgia and says if the Bears "are going to entertain any hopes of beating Missouri, we will have to eliminate every one of those mistakes. Our young men have felt the sting of defeat. They didn't like it, and they fully intend to do something about it."

The Bears had four lost fumbles, a costly penalty and poor kick coverage in the Georgia game.

Bengals Unanimous Selection

What a revolting development this project of prognostication has been so far this season ... especially after last week's flop. I ve been so disgusted in my guesses that I've even been afraid to figure out what percentage I'm hitting ...

While I'm scoring at a low level, some of my fellow guessers have been rolling along at an unbelievable pace ... It makes me wonder if I shouldn't dig up my crystal ball and see if its magic would help any ...

I'll try it without anyhelp for one more week ...

Joining us in this week's game are Rovina Ralph, Tony Ford, Ron Hornback, Danny Summerfield, Jerry Gentry, John Greer, Steve Myers, Eddie Smart and the mysterious Purple Smoot.

Cape Girardeau Central is again the only unanimous choice of the panel to retain its undefeated status ... The Bengals travel to Hazelwood Saturday ... It'll be a battle but the Tigers are a 14-6 favorite.

Sikeston is favored at home tonight against the Charleston Bluejays. This rivalry always presents some outstanding football and the scores are generally close ... The panel has the Bulldogs favored 9-1, and I agree, and predict that the Dogs will unveil a powerful offense against their rivals ... SHS 28-7.

Unbeaten Kennett visits undefeated Jackson in a big Northern Division battle that could possibly decide the North title ... Both teams are having exceptional campaigns ... but one will lose a little momentum after tonight's clash ... the home field advantage of the JHS Tribe should be the determining factor ... The panel favors JHS 8-2, and I agree. But it'll be a battle to the wire ... Jackson 21-20.

Poplar Bluff entertains Perryville in a Northern Division game that finds the Mules still searching for their first win of the season and the Pirates looking for a third straight victory ... The Pirates are 7-3 favorites of our panel and they seem to be on the right track ... but don't be surprised by a tie game ... The guesses figure out Perryvile 21-13.

Caruthersville hosts Dexter in a South battle that has always presented problems for the Bearcats at Tiger stadium ... Two seasons ago the Cats lost at this same stage and had to scramble for a share of the title with a final - game win over Malden ... They'll be prepared this time ... The panel has the Cats a 9-1 favorite, and they should be a unanimous pick against the rebuilding Tigers ... DHS 28-6.

The panel had split decisions on Chaffee at Portageville and Malden at Piggott, Ark., and left me tagging the home teams as victors ... The scores were close but I figure the Bulldogs by a TD over the Red Devils and Piggott by three over the Green Wave.

East Prairie travels to Hayti for a South clash that might be one of thy most interesting of the night. The season looks like a long one for the Eagles, but they could lift their spirits with a win ... The panel sees no waywith its 9-1 decision .. I'll have to agree, but I have an urge to go the other way ... HHS 27-6.

Doniphan and Illmo- Scott City are big favorites (9-1) to capture their Bootheel Division clashes. The Dons are a 21-0 favorite over Gideon, and I-SC is a 35-0 favorite over South Pemiscot.

That's all for tonight ... Call telenews (471-6666) for results of the games and join us next week when the fearless guessing game resumes.

Pirates Are East Champs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pittsburgh Pirates played hard all season and now it was time to pop off. So they popped off the tops of champagne bottles, a few soft drinks and one bottle of dry red wine.

The Pirates held a celebration Thursday night after winning the National League East title for the third straight year. They beat the New York Mets 6-2 and the victory was welcome relief for a team that had lost four of its last five games.

More champagne went for showers than for thirst in the Pittsburgh dressing room. Winning pitcher Steve Blass had some poured down his pants; Manager Bill Virdon got a champagne shampoo; and ther est of the players joined in the pennant party with drinks, music and laughter.

Virdon slipped away to a quiet corner, sipped some red wine and said the season had been just beautiful.

"Winning a division title is the hardest thing to do because it takes so long to do it," the rookie manager said. "Of course, it's harder on the players than it is on me, but it's still a long season for everybody."

The Pirates scored five runs in the third inning after getting one run without a hit in the first. In the third, the big blow was a two-run single by Richie Hebner. Roberto Clemente, Milt May and Bob Robertson also drove in runs.

The clincher Thursday night was the earlierst of the three titles for the Pirates. In 1970, they won on Sept. 27 and in 1971, they won on Sept. 22.

In the only other NL game, Philadelphia beat St. Louis 3-1.

In the American League, Detroit thumped Boston 10-3, Milwaukee downed New York 6-4 and California topped Kansas City 4-2.

Detroit blasted Boston for four runs in the first and third innings, three runs coming on a single by winning pitcher Joe Coleman, 18-13. The Boston loss cuts its lead in the AL East to less than one percentage point over the Tigers. In percentages, it's Boston .5454 and Detroit .5448, and that's close.

Boston started rookie Mike Garman, who came up from Louisville in the International League on Sept. 1. Manager Eddie Kasko defended his position even though Garman lasted just one-third of an inning and was hit for three runs.

"I had to gamble," said Kasko. "I wanted to start a righthander and I had three left. Garman had looked good in relief."

Johnny Briggs hit a homer, double and single and drove in three runs for the Brewers. The loss was the fifth in six games for New York. Bernie Allen homered for the Yankees.

Bob Oliver hit a homer and triple to lead California over Kansas City. Nolan Ryan broke a three-game personal losing streak and recorded his 17th victory. His four strikeouts increased his major league-leading total to 290.

Philadelphia scored two runs in the eighth on a three-base error by St. Louis first baseman Ted Simmons. The runs broke a 1-1 tie, Bob Boone homered for Philadelphia.

Cards Lose

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Three players headed for winter league baseball combined forces Thursday night as the Philadelphia Phillies salvaged a little glory from a lackluster season.

Right-hander Wayne Twitchell stopped the St. Louis Cardinals on four hits through seven innings and boosted his record as a rookie to 5-3 in a 3-1 Philadelphia victory.

When Twitchell faded in the eighth, fellow rookie Mac Scarce snuffed out a budding St. Louis rally and recorded his fourth save.

The third Phils rookie figuring prominently in the win was catcher Bob Boone, who slammed a home run over the left field fence off Jim Bibby, 11, in the seventh.

Philadelphia, winning the series 2-1, broke a scoreless tie via Boone's first major league homer with two out in the seventh.

St. Louis tied on Jose Cruz' double, a grounder and Twitchell's wild pitch in the bottom of the inning but just as quickly fell behind again on an error in the eighth.

Larry Bowa beat out a hopper toward second base with one out in the inning, Tommy Hutton walked and ex-Cardinal Willie Montanez drove a shot off Ted Simmons' glove at first base.

Simmons lunged to his left to keep the ball in play, but it rolled into the Cards' bullpen area for a three-base miscue scoring Bowa and Hutton.

Twitchell walked Mike Tyson and pinch-hitter Bill Voss leading off the Cards' eighth, but the 6-foot-3 Scarce, a left-hander, stymied the threat by retiring Lou Brock on a sacrifice, Ted Sizemore on an grounder and pinch-hitter Luis Melendez on a pop fly.

In the ninth, Scarce worked past pinch-hitter Bill Stein's two-out single to lock up the triumph for Twitchell.

Phils manager Paul Owens said Twitchell, Scarce and Boone would be among about seven Philadelphia players performing for a Puerto Rican team this winter under coach Billy DeMars.

"The big thing we're tickled about with Wayne is his control," Owens said. "He could be the type of pitcher next year we could get 30 or 40 starts out of."

ONE BASEBALL RACE

NEW YORK — When August began there seemed to be only one baseball race worth watching. That was in the American League East where the Detroit Tigers held a two-game edge over defending champion Baltimore. The Orioles have had hitting problems ever since they dealt Frank Robinson to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Oakland held a six-game bulge over Chicago in the AL West, while in the National League, August began with Pittsburgh showing a big lead over the Mets and Cincinnati with six-game margin over the Houston Astros. The winners of the two divisions will meet in the World Series in October.

'Must' Game For SHS

Tonight's Sikeston High School Bulldog clash with the Charleston Bluejays at Public School Stadium is a "MUST" game for Coach Pete Cirrintano's troops.

First of all, the Dogs must generate some offense to maintain mastery over their arch-rivals. Secondly, the SHS pack must win to stay in contention in the conference title race and, thirdly, the Bulldogs must make a good showing before the capacity crowd expected to welcome the Dogs for the first of six home games this season.

In a midweek conference with Coach Cirrintano, he noted that the Bluejays are in a rebuilding year, like SHS, and that CHS's program had shown notable improvement from its opening loss to Caruthersville to last week's narrow defeat at the hands of Perryville St. Vincent.

"They (Charleston) showed some real hard hitting and determination against St. Vincent," Coach Cirrinatno noted. "Had it not been for a couple of key mistakes, the Bluejays would come into Friday's game with an identical record to ours."

Cirrintano had nothing but high praise for Junior DeLay, the Bluejay quarterback. "He runs exceptionally well, has a good arm and is the key to the CHS offense .. If he has hot hand, we'll have trouble," the former Arkansas State University assistant coach noted. Along with DeLay, Coach Cirrintano pointed to Jim Jamison, David Ledbetter and Herbert Harrison as outstanding players in the Bluejay lineup.

"That No. 33 (Jamison) is the best fullback we've seen," Cirrintano explained, "He's quick and assured of at least five yards on every carry. We must key on him."

Charleston, although failing to score last week in its 3-0 loss to St. Vincent, has pushed across 21 points this season compared to the Bulldogs' 14.

"This will be a big test for our defense," Cirrintano emphasized. "They're tall and rangy, hit hard and will present an extra problem for our offense."

The Bulldogs will be at full strength for the home opener, returning Curtis Bean and Dennis Breedlove to the lineup after missing last week's 14-0 loss at Perryville.

Kickoff is set for 8 p.m. at Public School Stadium.

The Daily Standard, Sikeston, Mo. 7 Friday, September 22, 1972

Jets, Skins, Chiefs Favored

NEW YORK (AP) — In Baltimore they still shake their heads sadly when Super Bowl III is mentioned.

That, in case you've forgotten, was the pro football championship game in which a brash, cocky Joe Namath led the underdog New York Jets of the old American Football League to the title, beating the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

In days since, the AFL has merged with the NFL and Baltimore was one of three former NFL teams to join the old AFL as the American Football Conference.

The Jets and the Colts were placed in the East Division in what was figured to be a natural rivalry. There was talk of the two teams dominating the division for years and years.

Neither team reckoned with the upstart Miami Dolphins, however.

The Dolpins, after first luring away Don Shula from the Colts as a coach, won the division and went on to represent the AFC in the Super Bowl.

Anyway, what all this boils down to is that Joe Namath is making his first regular season visit to Baltimore since beating the Colts in Super Bowl III. He wasn't healthy on other Jet trips to Baltimore.

It's one of the weekend's 13 NFL games.

The Fearless Football Forecaster had 10 correct picks out of 13 for the initial weekend. That's a .769 mark. Without further comment, here goes for this weekend:

New York Jets 33, Baltimore 20—The Colts have beaten the Jets in all four previous regular season encounters. They won't this time.

Atlanta 24, New England 14— The Falcons, behind Bob Berry, win two straight before the toughies come along.

Dallas 25, New York Giants 21—The Cowboys won't beat the spread, which is 9½, as the Giants play game No. 2 of a long, losing season.

San Francisco 35, Buffalo 21—With John Brodie at the controls for the 49ers, what can go wrong when a team plays the Bills?

Pittsburgh 27, Cincinnati 25— The oddsmakers don't agree, but it's the year of the Steelers in the AFC's Central Division. If Terry Bradshaw doesn't complete his passes for Pittsburgh, he can always run for the goal line again.

Cleveland 24, Philadelphia 14—Leroy Kelly could have another one of those 100-yard plus rushing days for the Browns. For the Eagles, it will be just another one of those days.

Miami 31, Houston 16—The Dolphins will get their Kiicks again. And Bob Griese will mix up the Oilers' secondary with his passing.

Washington 16, St. Louis 12— The Redskins add another scalp to their 1972 collection, but it won't be easy.

Los Angeles 31, Chicago 18— Los Angeles can't bear to lose in a game like this. Chicago can't bear to win.

Green Bay 27, Oakland 25— This week's upset special. The Pack will be up from last Sunday's victory. The Raiders will be down and demoralized after losing to the Steelers.

Illini Face No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, who annually recall the legends of Knute Rockne, make their delayed start in the 1972 college football campaign against Northwestern Saturday.

A Dyche Stadium crowd of 55,000 is expected at Evanston, Ill. to watch the Irish unveil a sophomore quarterback, Tom Clements, against a Northwestern team that held Michigan to 7-0 a week ago.

"We will have to put more points on the board this season while our defensive unit gets a chance to establish itself," said Ara Parseghian, the latest in succession to famed coach Rocke who first made the Irish a national power 50 in the 1920s.

Without playing a game the Irish were ranked 13th in this week's Associated Press poll to the top-ranked Southern California Trojans who have already whipped Arkansas and Oregon State.

The Trojans go after their third in a row against Illinois at Champaign, Ill. The powerful Trojans are heavily favored following their 51-6 rout of Oregon State last week.

Oklahoma's Sooners, ranked second, entertain Oregon while No. 3 Colorado plays at Minnesota. Fourth-ranked Ohio State is idle with fifth-ranked Tennessee playing host to Wake Forest.

Other games involving teams in the AP Top Ten find No. 12 Michigan at No. 6 UCLA, night; No. 7 Alabama vs. Kentucky at Birmingham, Ala., night; Texas A&M at No. 8 Louisiana State; No. 9 Nebraska at Army and Kansas State at No. 10 Arizona State, night.

Penn State, ranked 11th entertains Navy and the Nittany Lions will try to bounce back after their opening game setback by Tennessee.

In other games involving the AP Second Ten, Miami of Florida is at No. 14 Texas; No. 15 Washington is at Purdue; No. 16 Georgia is at Tulane; Virginia Tech is at No. 17 Florida State; Georgia Tech is at No. 18 Michigan State; No. 19 Stanford is at Duke and No. 20 Mississippi is at South Carolina in a night tussle.

There will be four regional televised games this week instead of one on a national hookup. The four regional televised games are Nebraska at Army, Georgia at Tulane, Stanford at Duke and Bowling Green at Miami, Ohio.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Shamrock Racing Association will have a 100-day meet at Pocono Downs in 1973 from July 2-Oct. 27, excluding Sept. 4 and Oct. 16, the state Horse Racing Commission said Thursday.

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Crusaders of the World Hockey Association released three players Thursday, trimming their roster to 25.

Cut were goalie Gary Bate, defenseman George Tower and forward Jack Hoogevin.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — This season has been a big year for the Pittsburgh Pirates' minor league baseball teams. Two farm clubs won class A league championships—Salem in the Carolina League and Niagara Falls in the New York-Pennsylvania League.

Two others finished second— Charleston in the Class AAA International League and Sherbrooke in the Class AA Eastern League.

SALEM, N.H. (AP) Jockey Gary Mineau will be out of action for a while because of a broken collarbone suffered in a race at Rockingham Park.

'Moderate' Group To Seek Preus Ouster

NEW YORK (AP) — Self-described group of "moderates" in The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod has begun a drive to unseat the denomination's avowedly conservative president and allay a doctrinal controversy.

The president, the Rev. Dr. J.A.O. Preus, has been embroiled in a clash with the denomination's main seminary, Concordia in St. Louis, over his charge that its faculty is teaching false doctrine.

In an effort to stem the controversy that has spread throughout the 2.8-million-member denomination, a group of about 50 "moderates" met late in August and decided to spearhead a drive to replace Dr. Preus.

Spokesmen for the group disclosed Wednesday that they will press for the election of the Rev. Dr. Oswald C.J. Hoffmann, speaker on the weekly worldwide radio program, The Lutheran Hour.

Dr. Hoffmann is "the one man who can bring us together and avert the tragedy of a schism" the group declares in the September issue of Forum Letter, a monthly publication regarded as the moderates' voice.

Dr. Preus, 52, won the presidency in 1969 on a campaign to purge the denomination of alleged doctrinal deviations. He is expected to seek a second four-year term at the Church's 1973 convention in New Orleans.

Another Kind Of Learning

By REV. DAVID POLING

We soon will be told by the people in charge the number of young people returning this fall to school. We have the statistics for Head Start, the enrollment for those in graduate school, as well as the tally for those studying overseas. It is an educational culture, a school system in which we live and it is a force that touches every citizen. Yet education does not guarantee intelligence and advanced learning will not necessarily provide improved morality. Bright students are not always better people or even nice to live with.

For the back-to-school crowd, the following thought of the late Dr. James A. Francis is worth clipping. It has been around, but age has not worn its wisdom:

One Solitary Life

Here is a man who was born in an obscure village, the child of a peasant woman. He grew up in another obscure village. He worked in a carpenter shop until He was 30, and then for three years He was an itinerant preacher. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never went to college. He never set His foot inside a big city. He never traveled 200 miles from the place where He was born.

He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but Himself. He had nothing to do with this world except the naked power of His divine manhood.

While still a young man, the tide of popular opinion turned against Him. His friends ran away. One of them denied Him. He was turned over to His enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. His executioners gambled for the only piece of property He had on earth while He was dying—and that was His coat.

When He was dead, He was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend.

Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone and today He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the column of progress.

I am far within the mark when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that ever were built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together have not affected the life of man upon this earth as powerfully as has that One Solitary Life.

Mental Health Study To Start

KENNETT — A mental health training program for ministers in the Bootheel counties of New Madrid, Pemiscot and Dunklin and the surrounding area of Arkansas will begin Tuesday under a $6,000 federal grant.

The grant is the result of coordinated efforts by a group of local ministers (Bootheel Ministers for Better Mental Health), the Missouri Delta Ecumenical Ministry (MDEM), and the chaplaincy at Farmington State Hospital.

The training program will consist of four 10- week sessions meeting weekly. The first session will be held Tuesday from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church in Kennett.

There will be no cost to ministers participating in the program. Travel expenses for those living outside the Kennett area will be covered.

Primary goals of the training are:

— To increase knowledge of mental health in order to be a leavening force in the community for the fulfillment of God's eternal purpose.

— To improve individual pastoral ministry and encourage the development of a closer working relationship with other disciplines such as the medical and mental health professions.

— To develop lay persons to minister to the needs of special groups.

— To develop groups with a common need, such as ADC mothers, prisoners and persons who have been under psychiatric care.

Program content for the first 10 weeks will include a general introduction of psychiatry and psychology and types of illnesses; a study of what "good mental health" is; and ministry and mental health.

Lectures by specialized resource persons, small group sharing and community field work will be the approaches used in the training.

Gospel Series Opens Monday

MORLEY — A gospel meeting series will begin Monday at the Church of Christ and continue nightly through Sunday.

Revival Set At Eastside

Special services Tuesday through Sunday of next week at Eastside Church of the Nazarene, Ralph Avenue and Betty Street, will feature the Rev. and Mrs. Asa Sparks of Nashville, Tenn., as evangelist and singers.

Services through Saturday will begin at 7:30 nightly and at 10:35 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday, the Rev. C. Conrad Carrigan, pastor, announced.

This week's Uniform
INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
By Dr. William H. Taft

FOR SEPTEMBER 24, 1972

Scripture: Genesis 3:17-19; Exodus 20:8-11; Ecclesiastes 2:1-3; 9

(Based on outlines prepared by the Department of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., and used by permission.)

Social Change: Work and Leisure

Today's lesson certainly is one of concern to all Americans since it involves the changes in concepts of work and leisure as brought about by scientific technology.

There are other major concerns to study. For example, work and rest are in God's plan for man. Since there is a need to use leisure purposefully it must be pursued to the glory of God.

Why should man work? God works, Christ works, and so man works. God worked to create this world and He intended that all men work. He expected work to provide personal satisfaction and enjoyment. In fact, much work can be fun.

The Jews viewed work as honorable. All Jewish boys were taught a manual craft, even if they were studying to be a rabbi. Christ was a carpenter, Paul was a tentmaker.

Why do we need leisure? Such "free time" provides a chance for one to focus on God. God prefers that we use our leisure in His name. He took a day off to meditate about the work He had just finished.

Leisure provides a chance for one to restore his mind and his body. Leisure is part of the rhythm of life. Leisure offers a chance for one to recover from the hectic days of the week.

Frustration can result when one spends too much time on his work. Charles M. Laymon points out that "Life was not intended to be a grind. Men are supposed to live as well as to work. We are due a larger share in the profits that come from our work."

"There is no fun like work," Dr. Charles Mayo said. "To be without work is almost to be without life. For it is work which creates interest in life."

Many changes have taken place in our lives that make leisure more important. Our computerized society with all of its scientific know-how permits man to do his work in less time and so gain more time for leisure.

One of the major unions in America has a goal of a four-day week, with the work-day comprising seven hours. Thus the men will have nearly half of each week to devote to other activities, primarily leisure pursuits.

Life today is a combination of work and leisure. If one spends all of his time working he has no chance to reap the benefits. We know that man cannot take his wealth with him, and the Bible warns about the accumulation of wealth when it is misused.

Today young persons take jobs they enjoy, with less concern about the pay and security. More and more sons are deciding not to follow the professions of their fathers.

Leisure, however, is not a time to be idle or indolent. Leisure has its function. It must have meaning. It is a time for the family to be together, although unfortunately today's family will use leisure time to separate and go to their own areas of special interests.

The Sabbath now encounters more competition for the individual's attention than ever before. More stores are open, more sporting events held, more activities of a non-religion nature occur.

Labor and leisure are bound together. To some persons their labor is their leisure; to others, their leisure is their labor.

Methodist Museum Planned

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Memorabilia of Methodism in Southeast Missouri will be preserved in a museum to be constructed on the grounds of Old McKendree Chapel.

The board of trustees of the historic log church, located between Cape Girardeau and Jackson, made the announcement of plans to construct the museum at the annual Old McKendree service.

Arthur F. Deneke of Jackson, president of the board, said a compatible structure will be built near the chapel, and it is hoped to be completed by next September. "We have quite a few important historical materials that should be preserved," Deneke pointed out.

The board felt that a museum would be the best way of preserving historical data on Southeast Missouri Methodism and Old McKendree Chapel.

The chapel itself is believed to be the oldest Methodist church west of the Mississippi River, and has been designated a "major historic shrine" of the United Methodist Church. It was named for William McKendree, first American-born bishop of the denomination, who did extensive evangelistic work in the Midwest.

The Rev. Jeff R. Marsh, superintendent of the Cape Girardeau-Farmington District of the United Methodist Church, used "Let's Keep Moving" as his sermon topic at the service. The talk was based on the first seven verses of Joshua which depict the Israelites' plight after the death of Moses.

The Rev. Mr. Marsh said, "everyone faces a moment of crisis, but they must keep going." He said that as the Israelites had to continue on without Moses, people today must continue on after tragedy or defeat.

The Rev. Mr. Marsh said he was very anxious to start collecting materials for the museum, and felt that it will be a valuable asset to the area. He also said that he hopes people who have historical information pertaining to area Methodists will now feel they have a way of preserving these things.

The Rev. William L. Blackard, pastor of Taylor Avenue United Methodist Church at Flat River, delivered the invocation and benediction at the service. A choir from the Rev. Mr. Blackard's church provided special music.

The Rev. H. R. Tate, curator of the chapel, also reported on his work at Old McKendree in the past year.

The pangolin or scaly anteater is a toothless mammal found in Asia and Africa. It feeds on ants and termites. As a protection against these insects it has no external ears, thick eyelids and can close its nostrils, The World Almanac says. When attacked, it rolls into a ball.

Association To Meet

POPLAR BLUFF — Cane Creek- Stoddard Baptist Association will hold its annual meeting Oct. 3 at Second Baptist Church.

Sessions are scheduled from 2 to 6 in the afternoon and at 7:30 in the evenings.

Youth Revival Set Oct. 1-6

RISCO — General Baptist Church will have a youth revival Sunday through Friday, Oct. 1-6, with the Rev. Bobby Joe Griggs as evangelist.

Services will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature special music nightly, according to the Rev. Vernon Self, pastor.

Revival To Open Sunday

DEXTER — Evangelist Jack Scott of Springfield will be at First Baptist Church to conduct revival services starting Sunday and continuing through Oct. 1.

Men's Club Barbecue Set

BELL CITY — The Men's Club of the United Methodist Church will hold its annual barbecue chicken supper in the church dining room Saturday. Serving will start at 5 p.m. and continue until 8 p.m.

The menu will be barbecued chicken, pork, baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, home made pie and cake and coffee and tea.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE BIBLE

49. Plague of Lice and Flies

Since the plague of frogs had not been successful in releasing the children of Israel from their bondage, the Lord told Moses to have Aaron smite the dust of the land and it would become lice that would cover Egypt and all the animals and people. The magicians tried to bring forth lice and they couldn't. They told Pharaoh that this was the work of God. This infuriated the Pharaoh more and he stubbornly refused to release the Israelites. The Lord then told Moses to inform Pharaoh that if he would not release the children of Israel there would be a plague of flies and that they would cover Egypt, but not the land of Goshen where his people dwelt. And there came a tremendous swarm of flies that covered the whole land of Egypt.

Pharaoh called Moses and told Him if he would rid the land of the flies then they could go. Again Moses removed the plague from Egypt and again Pharaoh deceived him and would not let the Israelites go.

DONALD R. HUSK
Sept. 18, 1969

Your gentle face and patient smile
With sadness we recall
You had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all

The voice is mute and stilled the heart,
That loved us well and true,
Ah, bitter was the trial to part
From one so good as you.

You are not forgotten loved one
Nor will you ever be,
As long as life and memory last
We will remember thee.

We miss you now, our hearts are sore,
As time goes by we miss you more,
Your loving smile, your gentle face,
No one can fill your vacant place.

Missed by wife, Sue; and children Carrell, Vickie, Maria, Wendy

IF YOU THINK THE WANT ADS ARE FULL OF WHITE ELEPHANTS
THINK AGAIN !

You certainly wouldn't consider the two most important purchases you'll make in your lifetime . . . your home and your automobile . . . white elephants! And what about that job that provides you with your income and at which you spend half of your waking hours? Chances are you got your job through a Classified Ad! These three, coupled with hundreds of other important purchases you have made or will make, like the pet for the kids, the camper that gave you so much pleasure this summer . . . the boat, motorbike, garden tractor, refrigerator. They're all found in the Want Ads! White elephants? Well, hardly!

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Sept. 22, the 266th day of 1972. This is the first day of autumn. There are 100 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1949, the Soviet Union exploded its first atomic bomb, four years after the first American nuclear detonation.

On this date:

In 1776, Nathan Hale was hanged by the British as a spy. As he was led to the gallows in New York, he said: "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

In 1862, President Abraham Lincoln issued the preliminary Emancipation Proclamation.

You can win the starting game. If....

You care for your car. Proper car care maintenance now can defend your car against starting troubles—keep it running right—all through the cold, damp weather ahead. And reduce harmful auto emissions, too.

Healthy Voltage Reserve Like Having Extra Cash in the Bank

Wouldn't you know that day you couldn't get your car started you also got a letter from your bank saying your account was overdrawn?

Strange as it may appear, there is a parallel between these two unfortunately common misfortunes.

It's easy to see why you got that overdraft from the bank. Your income couldn't match your outgo. The same situation probably occurred inside the engine of your car and resulted in the starting trouble, says Champion Spark Plug Company.

System Explained

The ignition system income is called Voltage Available. In simple terms, that's the voltage that is provided by the electrical system and beefed up by the coil to fire the spark plugs. The "outgo" is called Voltage Required, or the juice needed to fire the spark plugs efficiently.

A healthy system would provide about 25,000 volts to the plugs. When the plugs are in good condition, they require about 7,000 volts to fire. All things being equal, there should be plenty of Voltage Reserve in the ignition bank.

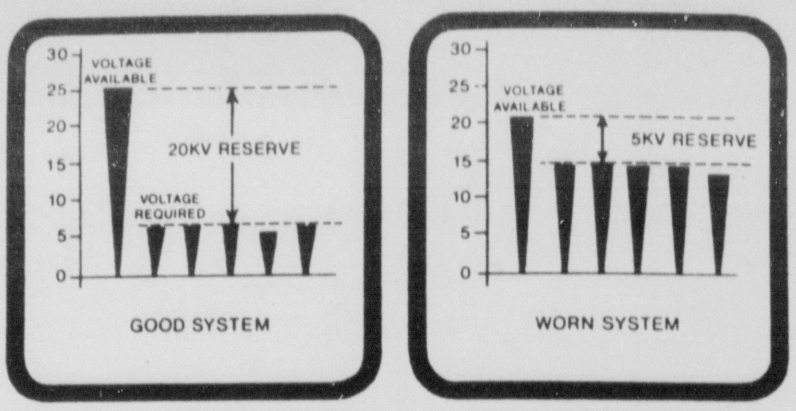
Even with your engine in top condition, when winter comes there is an extra strain on your car's starting ability. Cold or damp weather takes its toll. For example, at freezing temperature, the battery is only working at 60 percent of its strength.

So there is less voltage available.

Deteriorated ignition system components also cut into the voltage available to the spark plugs. For example, spark plug wires that are worn or cracked leak away vital voltage. Distributor components like points, rotor and cap must be in top shape to help provide a healthy spark.

When Voltage Needed

Fresh spark plugs should be able to function well even with reduced voltage available. But when the plugs themselves are worn, the voltage requirement goes up. A set of plugs with 10,000 or more miles usage can require several thousands more volts to fire them. If they are badly fouled, they may not even fire at all.



"Voltage Available" in your car's ignition system, much like a checking account, can sometimes become overdrawn. Chart (left) shows a healthy system with 25 kV available (5 kV required to start and 20 kV reserve), A worn system on a damp or cold day has less "VA," though with old spark plugs more is needed. Chart (right) shows such a system with 20 kV available (15 kV required to start and only 5 kV reserve). Avoid ignition bankruptcy . . . let your favorite service man check your "voltage account."

No Go

The end result is ignition bankruptcy and a starting failure.

So to assure starting success this winter add to your ignition system bank account with a complete tune-up including new spark plugs. That's especially true if it's been more than a year or 10,000 miles since your last tune-up.

Inflation Can Be Helpful

Remember how Dad always used to let some air out of his tires when the snow got over two inches deep? Grandpa had told him this would increase his traction.

Now, a new generation has come along to tell it like it is. It's like this: Your tires actually lose some of their bite when you let air out of them.

If you want good winter traction, put on a set of snow tires—maybe studded (where legal) — or buy some chains. However you do it, do not experiment with your tire pressure. Besides the traction situation, underinflation can waste 20% or more of your gasoline.

Here is another interesting phenomenon about tire pressures. If you leave the cold north when the temperature is down around zero, driving into the tropical south where it is a lovely 80 degrees, your tires could become as much as eight pounds overinflated.

Conversely, your tire pressure will drop a like amount as you go from a warm temperature to cold. The drop is about a pound for each 10 degrees.

This is why you should not check tire pressures in a heated garage and why you should have the pressure checked about once a month — especially as seasons change.

The advantages of proper tire pressure checks are increased safety, better handling and longer, more even tread wear.

VENTILATION VITAL

Even on the coldest winter days, it's still a good idea to drive with a window slightly opened. This will prevent the possibility of carbon monoxide fumes amassing in the passenger compartment. Better yet, have your exhaust system checked thoroughly to guard against the deadly gas.

Study Shows That Maintenance Is Key to Control of Emissions

Checking emissions of thousands of cars to amass their data, technicians at Olson Laboratories discovered one common factor: No matter how effective anti-pollution devices are on cars, they still have to be maintained for lowest possible emissions.

So you bought a new car with all the emission controls on it. Now, your mind's at ease about excessive emissions. Well, it shouldn't be.

Studies conducted by Olson Laboratories show that acceptable emission performance for most cars can be achieved and sustained only by proper maintenance and repair. The study showed that only those tune-ups performed to reduce exhaust emissions are effective.

Olson reported that high emissions can be lowered, in most cases, with engine adjustments and tune-ups performed by a qualified service technician.

The results of the studies, summarized in the Olson report, suggested:

FIRST, that the incorporation of emission controls on cars does not assure continued low emissions because the control systems tend to deteriorate in their performance;

SECOND, with proper maintenance and adjustments, vehicles will continue to operate with lower emission levels.

Olson recommends the use of infra-red exhaust analyzer equipment by qualified service personnel in order that accurate inspection can be performed — and for determining corrective adjustments, service or replacement. This type of equipment measures the hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions produced by car engines and provides other information about their performance and economy.

Tune-Up Now, Avoid Winter Motoring Hassles

So Says AAA Director Who Offers Tips on Starting, Maintenance And Driving in Snow

By JOHN P. ECK
Director, National Emergency Road Service,
American Automobile Association

ONE OF 82 MILLION — Eighty-two million calls for help were answered by AAA road service trucks last year. And almost half of them were the result of starting failure. AAA recommends a pre-winter tune-up as one step in making sure your car starts on even the foulest winter days.

Does the thought of wrestling with a stalled engine this winter give you chills? The American Automobile Association says you can avoid this seasonal hassle by putting into practice a few basic guidelines for getting your car under way smoothly.

But well before winter arrives, AAA urges every car owner to take his car in for a complete tune-up and inspection. Especially important is a check of the car's electrical system. In 1971, AAA estimates show 49 per cent of the nation's 82.6 million motoring problems resulted from battery and electrical failures.

Battery Check

Batteries should be checked frequently. At 32 degrees, cranking power is about 40 per cent less than when the temperature is at 80 degrees; and at zero, about 60 per cent less.

During extended periods of cold weather, starting the car and running the engine at least every other day at sufficient RPM's to charge the battery is good insurance against battery failure. If this is done in a garage, be sure to open the garage doors wide enough to protect against the threat of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Do install snow tires well before the first snowfall, and have chains ready in case of a severe snowstorm.

Starting Tips

Once the inspection has been completed, and that first cold morning has arrived, here is AAA's advice on how to get your engine started with a minimum of trouble:

- Make sure the shift selector or gear shift is in neutral. If the car has a manual shift, depress the clutch while starting.
- Avoid a "battery strain" by making certain all electrical accessories (radio, lights, heater) are turned off before using the starter.
- Depress the gas pedal all the way down to the floor once, then hold it halfway down as the starter is engaged. Do not pump the gas pedal, because this can result in flooding.
- Turn the ignition key to "start," but don't hold the key in the start position for more than 10 seconds at a time. Continuous grinding of the starter can damage the battery, and even drain a fully charged one.
- Depress the gas pedal slightly to keep the engine running if the engine starts and then dies a number of times.
- If the engine becomes flooded, depress the gas pedal to the floor and hold it there while engaging the starter. Keep your foot on the pedal until the engine starts again. Then release it slowly. Remember, do not pump the pedal.

Properly Aligned Wheels Add Miles to Tire Life

By CHUCK STROBERG
Chassis Product Manager, TRW Replacement Division

Just as there are timing and ignition gap settings that combine to provide a well tuned, efficient engine, there are camber, caster, and "Toe" settings to maintain the operating quality of the chassis.

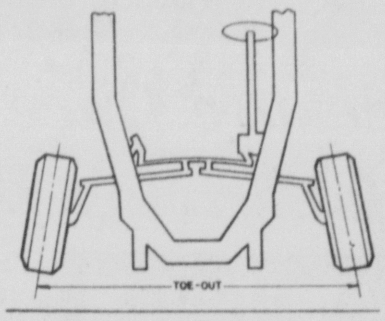
These are adjustable angles that must be maintained to provide a true running front end that will allow tires to give their maximum service life.

The camber angle is a measure of the tilt of the top of the front wheels to or away from the vehicle body. Ideally, for long tire life, the wheels should be close to a true vertical position when the car is in operation and at its stable riding height.

This prevents excessively high pressure on any portion of the tread where it meets the road that could cause unusual tire wear on one section of the tire surface.

Concerned with Steering

Caster is the alignment angle used to measure the forward or rearward tilt of the steering axis of the front wheels, when checking from the side view. Its effect on the vehicle is mainly concerned with steering and handling.



Only under very extreme condition can caster be a tire wear factor.

Other handling problems calling for front end service would occur before tire wear became a problem.

Of the three adjustable alignment angles "Toe" has the greatest effect on tire life. The "Toe" specification concerns the ability of the wheels to roll ahead freely without scuffing across the road surface.

The ability to hold the proper "Toe" setting is directly affected by the condition of the parts in the steering system. This chassis system which includes the idler and pitman arms, tie rod ends, and centerlinks, connects the two front wheels and has the job of transmitting the driver's directional desires to them.

Toe-settings

Although the parts in the steering system don't support a great deal of weight, they are subject to jarring, twisting, and turning forces that tend to wear them and create looseness. The change in the relationship of the parts to each other that is created by this wear can lead to variable or incorrect "Toe" settings that are a real hazard to tire life.

Maintaining the proper "Toe" and camber alignment in a vehicle is critical to obtaining the longest possible life from your tires, but alignment alone is not the whole story.

Put Yourself Back in the Driver's Seat

Make Motoring a Pleasure Once More with Car Care And Safe Driving Habits

If you drive a car, you have more than the steering wheel in your hands.

As a motorist, your actions or lack of action can help determine the state of the motoring world in which you drive. And in doing so, you can make owning and operating a car a happier proposition.

In the simpler world a generation or so removed, car ownership was a relatively uncomplicated matter. Laws governing the automobile mainly dealt with its safe operation and licensing.

It is almost superfluous to note that things have certainly changed. Today, hardly a week passes that some legislative body is not weighing the passage of a new restriction on car ownership or car manufacturing. It's practically a full-time activity keeping up with new developments.

Reasons for this fixation on the car are not difficult to fathom. Traffic fatalities and injuries continue to remain at the same dismally high levels. Damage to the environment, resulting from vehicle emissions remains a serious problem.

While the auto makers have made and are continuing to make dramatic strides in solving these problems, the man and women behind the wheel have demonstrated little interest in carrying their share of the burden.

If this were not so, why do half of the cars undergoing simple vehicle safety checks fail in at least one critical component? If this were not so, why do three out of every five cars require simple engine maintenance that could reduce harmful emissions by a startlingly high percentage?

This lack of maintenance on the part of the car owner could almost be understood, if it were merely a matter of civic pride or good neighborliness.

It is obvious that self preservation ranks head and shoulders above concern for one's fellow man.

But caring for one's car pays handsome dividends in helping oneself. Perhaps the concern for one's family's safety is not that tangible an idea. It's comforting to believe "It can't happen to us." The non-use of seat belts is but one example of this apparent lack of concern.

On a dollar and cents basis, car care does pay tangible dividends. That low-emission tune-up will do more than help clean up the air. It will also save on gasoline consumption and on time and money expended when the car won't start.

Simple, low-cost procedures such as changing oil and filter and lubrication on a regular basis can forestall costly engine and drive train repairs. Cooling system attention can prevent mishaps that in some cases would ruin an engine completely.

Cooling System Check

A cooling system tune-up doesn't take long—only about an hour and a half. And the cost is small compared to that of emergency service or major repairs.

In case your service station attendant or garage mechanic doesn't know about Tune-Up No. 2, ask him to check his flat-rate manual, or write to The Gates Rubber Company, 999 So. Broadway, Denver, Colorado 80217. Or, hand him this list of service points:

1. A visual check of coolant level for indication of leaks or excessive oil content.
2. Check with pressure tester for internal and external leaks.
3. Visual check of oil for water content.
4. Test thermostat for proper opening and closing.
5. Check of heater valves.
6. Check heat gauge for accuracy.
7. Drain and back flush cooling system.
8. Clean radiator core of bugs and check for clogging.
9. Clean engine if heavily covered with grease and oil.
10. Test radiator pressure cap.
11. Check radiator neck cap seat for nicks or scratches that could release pressure.
12. Check water pump bearings.
13. Check fan blades and pulley for alignment and balance.
14. Inspect all hose and clamps for deterioration.
15. Check core plugs and drain cocks for leakage.
16. Refill system with coolant and check for air-locks.
17. Recheck entire system for leaks.
18. Check and adjust tension of V-belts.
19. Check and reset ignition timing to eliminate ping.
20. In cases where cooling system continues to overheat, check other possible causes.
21. Replace belts, hose, clamps, thermostat and cap as necessary.

Preserving that New Look Enhances Value of Car

A minor scratch can develop into a serious infection when left unattended. This applies to cars as well as human bodies.

Possibly you have experienced something like this with your car. The minor parking lot dent or split upholstery seam, which upset you considerably at first, gradually becomes part of the scene.

You get used to it after the initial jolt and tend not to worry about it after that. The same with subsequent dings and dents.

Unfortunately, the appraiser will not find these things particularly appealing when you start shopping for a new car. A well maintained automobile may bring several hundred dollars more at trade-in time than one that has been allowed to deteriorate.

Sometimes the neglect of a car's appearance is not deliberate. A few scratches you may not have noticed, covered with dirt and salt through the winter, suddenly appear as rusty gouges when you get around to giving your car its spring clean-up.

Rust, which usually does more to depreciate a car than any other single factor, is ravenous. It moves in fast, feeding on chips and scratches, until what started out as a minor scrape (possibly one that you might have been able to fix up yourself) now may require considerable grinding and refinishing to make the car presentable.

In terms of protecting the substantial investment you probably have in your car, quality body repairs can pay big dividends at resale time. Watch for minor scrapes and scratches and take care of them before rust does.

Touching-up Before Trading Should Increase Car Value

If you're thinking of trading in your car, a few dollars and a few ounces of elbow grease can increase its value considerably. Assuming your car is in good mechanical condition, the following cosmetic touches should help bring you top dollar on your trade-in.

1. Clean engine block of excess grime
2. Scrub out the trunk
3. Touch up nicks and wax the car
4. Clean floor mats and replace them if badly worn
5. Clean upholstery
6. Clean the headlining and dash board area
7. Clean scruff marks from the door siding
8. Make certain all lights and turn signals are working
9. Polish chrome trim and remove rust from pitted area

Careful attention to little nicks and scratches on your car will help them from becoming large rust holes. Having a professional do the needed repairs may save you hundreds of dollars in trade-in value for that's the difference between a car in top shape and one that shows body damage. Celebrities Demonstrate Car Care Needs

Under the hood to investigate a mechanical difficulty are from left: television personality Dave Garroway, comedienne Peggy Cass, race driver Peter Revson and comedian Louis Nye. In an hour-long National Automotive Trouble Quiz TV Special, this foursome dramatized what to do about car trouble situations that are not strangers to many of America's 110 million licensed drivers.

Do You Know Correct Answers? If Not You've Lots of Company

Do you know how often to have your engine tuned, how to start a flooded engine and what causes your engine to keep running after you've turned off the ignition? If you do, you're a pretty "with it" motorist. If you don't, you've got a lot of company.

Questions on tune-up, hard starting and after-run gave viewers the most difficulty in the recent National Automotive Trouble Quiz. The television quiz, produced by the Fram Corporation, was aired nationally and posed questions on car maintenance to the audience.

Three groups of drivers — driver ed students, their parents and members of the Sports Car Club of America — served as a cross-section of the motoring public in answering the quiz questions.

One question, "How often should you have your car tuned?" stumped more than half of the panelists. They failed to guess the correct answer which is, "Once a year for cars that travel an average of 12,000 miles."

On the question, "How do you start a flooded engine?" more than a quarter of the panelists failed to answer correctly. The right reply was, "Depress the accelerator all the way to the floor, hold it there and crank the engine until it clears itself and fires."

A third question, "What's wrong when the engine keeps running after it is shut off?" puzzled almost half of the panel members. They should have replied, "The trouble is dieseling, sometimes called engine run-on, and the services of a professional are needed to correct it."

Starring in the NATQ special were stage and TV comedienne Peggy Cass, comedian Louis Nye, race driver Peter Revson, and Dave Garroway who served as moderator.

The polecat is a mammal native to Europe and northern Asia. Polecats have scent glands which can emit an ill-smelling secretion like a skunk's. The World Almanac notes that because the skunk produces a foul smell it is often called "polecat." Polecats feed upon rodents, reptiles, poultry and small game. The ferret used in hunting is a domesticated variety.

In-Car Test for Drivers, Just One of Many

New Systems for Motoring Safety

The Automotive Information Council, supported by the major segments of the motor vehicle and motor vehicle service industries, for several months has been gathering data about current accomplishments and future technology and service refinements planned by the industry. A few innovations which one day may become an integral part of your vehicle include:

A braking system which permits a straight-ahead controlled stop without skidding or sliding even on wet pavement during a "panic" stop.

A device to aid in steering which automatically compensates for wind gusts and chuck holes, adapted from our space guidance systems.

A unit on the dashboard which monitors tire pressure while driving, activating a warning light or buzzer when the pressure on any tire falls below a prescribed level. One study shows that a tire under-inflated by nine pounds of pressure loses 52% of its life. In 1970, according to the same study, underinflation wasted an estimated 13 billion tire miles.

These are but a few of the more sophisticated innovations which may be available on the vehicle you buy in the near future.

A man who has stayed for "one too many" weaves through the bar door and lurches into his parked car. He's heading home, or so he thinks. But in order to start the car he must first correctly punch up his personal five-digit identification number on a small dashboard computer.

If successful, for a two-second interval another set of numbers totally foreign to him appears which he must memorize and duplicate on the computer. He has three chances at the second test. Correct answers will activate the ignition system.

He can then start the car by pushing another button which also activates the computer into a rapid series of pre-driving diagnostic tests of vital operating systems, reporting any signs of trouble. If unsuccessful with either test, no one can start the car for at least one hour.

Far fetched? Not at all. The technology is here. The "psychological tester" designed to prevent drunk drivers from starting their automobiles and to reduce the approximately one million vehicles stolen annually is one of many new systems in various development stages by motor vehicle and vehicle component system manufacturers.

And one of the most important industry products is the new breed of service technician equipped with the ability to maintain today's sophisticated power systems and those earmarked for future vehicles.

To supply this continuing need, vehicle and component manufacturers are re-training tens of thousands of experienced technicians every year. The vocational schools, and colleges are graduating thousands of young men annually who will become tomorrow's technicians.

And as the number of vehicles on the road grows each year, the industry is helping meet this service manpower demand by working closely with schools at "career day" assemblies, advising administrators and instructors on new teaching procedures, and providing industry sponsored schools.

CALLING A CAB? What looks like a telephone dial is actually a device to test whether a driver is in condition to operate the car. Developed by General Motors, the Phystester requires "dialing" a set of numbers in rapid sequence before ignition is possible. The Phystester also can help deter car thieves.

Cooling Systems Deserve More Than Anti-Freeze

If Car is More Than One Year Old Better Ask Service Technician For a Tune-Up No. 2

If your car is more than a year old, you're in line for cooling system problems or trouble. Could be a simple thing like a worn or cracked V-belt, a hose that's getting soft or brittle, a radiator cap that's not holding pressure. But, one thing's sure — when one part is about to give way, you can count on others needing attention, too.

So, don't stop your winter cooling system protection with just an anti-freeze check-up. Ask your service technician for a Tune-Up No. 2.

Here's what he'll do:

He'll thoroughly inspect and check all cooling system components — hoses, V-belts, water pump, thermostat, radiator caps, hose clamps. Then he'll replace worn or malfunctioning parts and set you up for carefree driving in any weather.

Cooling System Vital

Why is a cooling system tune-up so important? Remember, the cooling system of your car plays a vital role. It keeps the operating temperature of your engine at a level at which it performs at top efficiency.

To do this, automotive engineers came up with a pressurized cooling system. This permits the coolant to rise well above the normal boiling point without "boiling over." Modern engines, for example, are engineered with cooling systems that must withstand pressures in excess of 17 pounds plus underhood temperatures ranging as high as 278°. Keep in mind that the boiling point of water at sea level is 212°!

Heat's Damaging

These high heats and great pressures are bound to put a strain on all parts of your car's cooling system. Just one defective or worn part can cause your engine to overheat with possible extensive and costly repairs following quickly.

So don't let the fact that you may be driving a late model car lull you into thinking nothing can happen. A cooling system tune-up is even more important to your car, simply because its higher running temperature makes cooling system parts wear fast.

Rear-Mounted Light Cluster Signals Exact Driver Action

Imagine a world without traffic lights and think of the total confusion that would result.

If a proposed bill passes the U.S. Congress, every car manufactured will have its own version of traffic lights mounted on the rear end.

Should the proposal become law, automobiles would be equipped with a Tri-light system. The lights would signal the actions of the driver to other drivers in cars to the rear.

This light cluster would include the following:

1. The present rear red lights which signal the application of brakes.

2. Two rear amber lights that are activated when both the gas pedal and brake pedal are not depressed. (Or when the driver is about to stop or about to start up again.)

3. Two rear green lights activated by a depressed gas pedal. (Or when the driver has started up again.)

4. Amber rear turn signals, integrated with the amber lights in Point 2.

It is estimated the system would cost $15 per car.

Purpose of the system is to create more exact communication between drivers. It is hoped by proposers of the legislation that the number of rear-end collisions would be markedly reduced.

An untuned car is starting trouble.

It's more than just a slogan.

Much more. Winter tests on motorists' cars showed that untuned cars had over twice the "won't starts" tuned cars had.

A major reason for this is worn spark plugs. They demand twice the voltage of plugs in good condition. And on a cold day, your battery supplies less voltage. When the supply can't meet the demand, your car won't start. No matter how hard you try.

So please consider our "slogan" and see your mechanic for his engine tune-up now—before trouble strikes. You'll enjoy dependable starts. Plus better acceleration and gas mileage. And reduced emissions, too.

Unique winter starting tests certified by the United States Auto Club involved 110 motorists in Sparta, New Jersey. Half of their cars were given a tune-up while the remaining cars were left in "as is" condition. After three months of normal use, the untuned cars had over twice as many "won't starts" as the tuned cars. The untuned cars averaged 5% poorer gas mileage, too. These wasted gas dollars—plus the cost of just one "won't start" service call—could just about pay for a tune-up!
